BOY DEAD; MOTORIST BLAMED

TODAY

What Is Insanity?
Many Are Not Normal.
Fear of Love Conquers.
Study Your Brain.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Many murderers continue to seek refuge from the electric chair in the insane asylum. Denying nothing, they tell how they shot or poisoned their victims, and the lawyer for each one hopes that the jurors, in face of such cold-blooded admissions, will say to themselves: "This main is crazy. Such villainy, such cold-blooded cruelty could not be part of a sane man."

But we may ask with interest, What is insanity?

Briefly, insanity describes the mind working abnormally, not according to rules that govern the majority of human beings.

But who will give an exact definition as to when a man is insane and when he is sane?

If a mother left her child in that building and was burned in trying to save it, you would say, "Mother love conquers all fear."

A poor fool is killed in the effort to go safely over Niagara, and you call him "insane."

A man in war rushes to death just as certain, and you say: "A patriot."

If you saw a man on the street giving away his fortune, distributing gold and greenbacks, you would say without a moment's hesitation, "Crazy."

If you read of a man dead of starvation, lying on a miserable straw mattress, with thousands of dollars stored away under the matrress, you say, "Miser."

What is the exact difference?

Suppose that in an insane asylum you heard a wild-eyed man saying:

"It is as though the dead could feel the icy worm around them steal, and shudder as the reptiles creep to revel o'er their rotten sleep without the power to scare away those cold consumers of their clay."

You would say, "That's a very dangerous mad-man. Why don't you put a straightjacket on him?"

MIDLAND ROAD JOB AWARDED

Rinehart Brothers' Prepare to Begin Work.

Rinehart Brothers, today were awarded the contract for the grading and surfacing of that part of Route No. 243, between Midland and the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line. Their bid, $94,991.35, was the lowest of six submitted.

Steam shovels and other road grading equipment in Westmoreland Jefferson and Clarion counties, Pennsylvania, will be shipped at once. Work is expected to be started next Monday.

One and possibly two steam shovels will be used on the job. Work will begin at the state line, pushing east to Beaver creek, where the biggest fill is to be made, and another crew will start east of Smiths Ferry, working toward Midland. The contract calls for about 20,000 cubic yards of excavating. The road is about 1 3-5 miles long, and will be surfaced with reinforced concrete, 18 and 20 feet in width.

The contract is to be completed in 100 working days. The contractors plan to keep the road open while the improvement is under way. The Rinehart job is that part of the road from the state line to Glasgow borough and from Smiths Ferry to Midland. The one-half mile stretch through Smiths Ferry, which will border the C. & P. right of way, will not be improved until next year. The new road will parallel the street car tracks.

The Beaver county commissioners have awarded the contract for the new concrete span over Beaver creek to the Farris Engineering company of Pittsburgh, which will complete the job in 140 days.

Work will be started within the next week or 10 days.

A half-mile section of the road in the western end of Midland is also under construction, work having been started today by a Midland contractor. This road will link the Rinehart job with that part of the road within the borough.

The crossings—one known as Barclay's and the other at Industry, on the upper end of the road, will not be undertaken until 1926.

Board of Education May Act Tonight On Two Questions

Selection of a superintendent to succeed F. P. Geiger and decision on the question of using the schools for classes in religious education probably will be the principal matters to be considered by the board of education at an adjourned meeting in the high school building at 7 o'clock tonight.

The post of superintendent is said to have narrowed down to one of two candidates. At a test vote conducted last Friday evening, one of the candidates is said to have polled a majority vote.

Despite the fact that Attorney General C. C. Crabbe has not given an opinion as to the legality of the move to use the schools for classes in religious instruction, the board may vote on the question tonight. The matter was referred to the attorney general more than a month ago.

William Miller Shot In Leg By Patrolman As He Flees

Makes Dash Toward Pennsylvania as Herman Roth, Armed With Warrant on Liquor Charge, Approaches.

William Miller, 23, brother of "Alabama Joe" Miller, so-called "king of the state line bootleggers,' is in the city hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the right leg, inflicted Sunday afternoon by Patrolman Herman Roth, when he attempted to evade arrest.

A warrant for Miller's arrest, charging him with selling intoxicating liquors, was issued by Chief of Police McDermott Sunday. Patrolmen Roth and Chester Smith, in plain clothes, went to the state line in an effort to apprehend Miller, who was reported at "Hell's Half Acre."

Roth and Smith were standing near the end of the concrete road in Ohio, when they saw Miller approaching. Roth called to Miller, telling him he was under arrest. Miller replied "all right,' and walked toward a refreshment stand nearby. Realizing that this was a move on the part of Miller to flee across the line into Pennsylvania, Roth called for him to stop, pulling his gun and firing in the air to frighten him.

Miller failed to heed the warning and thrust his hand in his shirt as if he intended to sieze a gun, and Roth fired again. This shot struck Miller in the calf of the right leg just below the knee. He then dropped to the street and surrendered.

The wounded man was taken to the hospital where he received medical assistance. The bullet lodged in his knee and an X-ray examination was to be made this morning. He was shackled to a bed to prevent his escape.

Miller, police say, was recently released from the Beaver county jail where he was committed by Beaver county authorities for a liquor violation. His brother, "Alabama Joe," is now serving a term in the Western Penitentiary, Woods Run, Pa., for a liquor violation, having been sentenced in the Beaver county courts.

POLICE LAUNCH RIGID CAMPAIGN AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS; FIVE IN JAIL

Police Set Fire To Houseboat Owned By Man in Jail

Chief of Police McDermott and Lieutenant Douglass Leyda, of the Pennsylvania Railroad detective force, set fire to and destroyed a house boat belonging to Clifford Milligan, colored, near the Newell bridge, this morning.

Milligan is in the county jail at Lisbon, serving out a sentence imposed by local authorities. Police say that Milligan has been a habitual offender, using the house boat as a harboring place for youths and violators. The boat was declared a nuisance and ordered destroyed.

Ernest Happold, Ohio Power Official, Goes to Portsmouth

Ernest L. Happold, commercial manager of the Ohio Power company for three and one-half years, accompanied by his family, left Saturday evening for Portsmouth, where he will become power solicitor for the Portsmouth Public Service company.

Happold came to East Liverpool in November, 1921, from the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y. His successor here has not been appointed.

Additional Arrests Expected as Chief McDermott Directs Clean-up Here.

A rigid campaign against illicit liquor dealers was launched by the police Sunday upon orders of Chief Hugh McDermott. As a result of the drive, five suspects were in jail this morning, while additional arrests are expected.

Those arrested Sunday afternoon and this morning are: Tony Carney, Thomas Morgan, George Lawton, Harry Anderson and Charles Kail. Carney was arrested in his home on the hillside back of West End; Morgan was picked up on Sixth street, where it is alleged he has been operating. Lawton at his home in California Hollow; Anderson at his home in Walnut street and Kail at his rooming house in Broadway.

All were arrested on warrants issued by McDermott on selling charges.

None of those in jail today was admitted to bond. They were to be given hearings before Mayor Charles Brown in police court at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

BEAUTY SHOP OWNER BADLY BURNED WHEN APRON IGNITES

Miss Mary Wright in Serious Condition in Hospital.

DOCTOR HOPEFUL

Victim, Clothing Ablaze, Runs Thru Corridor of Building.

Miss Mary Wright, owner of a beauty parlor and hair dressing establishment in the Little Building, is in a serious condition in the City hospital today, as the result of burns suffered about 7:15 o'clock Saturday evening when her apron caught fire from an alcohol burning curling iron heater. It is believed she will recover unless complications develop.

Dentist Smothers Flames.

Miss Wright was combing her hair as she was standing beside the heater. Her apron was fanned into a blaze and in an instant she was in a mass of flames.

Screaming, she ran into the corridor of the building. Dr. J. B. George, whose dental offices are across the hall from Miss Wright's parlors, answering her cries of distress, grasped two sheets from his office and wrapped them about the woman, smothering the flames. Most of her clothing had been burned from her body before the fire was extinguished.

She was seriously burned about the chest, abdomen, back and lower part of the body, while her face was slightly burned and her hair singed.

Dr. Albert Michaels, who occupies offices on the same floor as Miss Wright's parlors, dressed her injuries, following which she was taken to the hospital in the Sturgis ambulance.

HORSE KICKS MAN IN NECK

Frank Aley, Butcher, Victim of Accident in Fredericktown.

Frank Aley, 35, Avondale street butcher, narrowly escaped serious injury, Sunday morning, when he was kicked in the neck by a vicious horse.

Aley, who owns a summer home, about one-half mile from Fredericktown, was unhitching the horse from a drag which he had been using when the animal kicked just as he was unfastening a trace from the single tree. The blow caught Aley on the neck and chin, knocking three of his teeth loose and causing a partial paralysis of the larynx.

He was rendered unconscious and was carried into the house. Dr. J. J. Fitzsommons of Calcutta, was summoned and made an examination of his injuries.

Aley recovered consciousness several hours after the accident occurred. No bones were broken. His condition was reported to be considerably improved today.

BUSTER INGRAM IS HELD ON MANSLAUGHTER COUNT AS HE WAIVES HEARING

John, 7-year-old Son of Henry Martin, Colored, is Fatally Injured When Struck by Car on Newell-Congo Road in Congo Late Saturday Afternoon.

AUTHORITIES CLAIM DRIVER FAILED TO STOP FOLLOWING FATAL ACCIDENT

Two Girls, Who Were Passengers in Machine, are Called as Witnesses at Hearing in Chester, When Accused Furnishes $2,000 Bond Pending Investigation by Grand Jury.

Buster Ingram, 22, First Street, Chester, was held in $2,00 bond on a charge of manslaughter when arraigned yesterday before Justice A. G. Allison, of Chester, in connection with the death of John, 7, son of Henry Martin, colored, of Congo, who was struck by an automobile on the Newell-Congo road at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A charge of reckless driving, which had been filed previous to the boy's death, was held in abeyance until after the grand jury investigation.

The lad, whose skull was fractured and face badly crushed, died in his home 12 hours after the accident.

Young Ingram, who spent Saturday night in the Chester jail, was released after the bond was furnished by Elmer and Frank Hoskinson and Arch Ingram, his father. He waived a hearing upon advice of his attorney, W. W. Ingram.

Prosecutor Thomas S. Hoffman, of Weirton, represented the state.

Two Girls in Auto.

Coroner George A. Arner of Hancock county conducted an inquest and after hearing the testimony of several witnesses, including Miss Helen Webber of Pleasant Heights, East Liverpool, and Mrs. Hazel De Long of Newell, a verdict was returned that the boy met dis death by being run over by an automobile operated by Ingram and recommended that he be held for an investigation by the grand jury.

Testimony at the inquiry disclosed that Ingram, with the Webber and De Long women and another young man, whose name was not revealed, had been to New Cumberland and were enroute back to Chester when the fatal accident occurred.

At Congo, the Martin boy, who was playing in front of his home, stepped, it is claimed, from back of an ice wagon directly in the path of the car which struck him and dragged him a considerable distance.

Girls Reveal Driver's Name.

Ingram, authorities charge, failed to stop his car following the accident, but continued toward his destination. When the auto reached Laurel Hollow park in Newell, the girls, becoming frightened, left the machine and returning to Congo; informed the boy's family as to the driver's identity.

The dying boy was given medical attention by Dr. E. V. McEldowney of Newell.

Chief Seevers went to Ingram's home, where he found him in bed. Questioned by the chief he at first, it is stated, denied being the driver of the car, but when brought to the Chester city hall he admitted striking the boy and failing to give assistance. He was locked up, while the mayor and chief continued their investigation.

The body of the lad was taken to the home in Congo at the close of the inquest. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in a home of a relative in Wellsville. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

LIGHT CANDLES, LOOT SYNAGOGUE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Lighting the tall prayer candles to aid them in their work, thieves broke into a Synagogue in Madison street early today and stole the silver service, valued at $1,000.

Henry Linde, an aged watchman, was bound and gagged by the robbers.

FIRE DESTROYS COUPE, TRUCK

Blaze Sweeps Clarence Azdell Garage Near Calcutta.

Two automotive vehicles—a coupe and a truck—were destroyed when fire of mysterious origin razed a frame garage on the Clarence Azdell farm, about a mile west of Calcutta on the Cannons Mill road, at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

Members of the Azdell family were awakened by the blowing of the horn on one of the machines, which became short circuited. Looking out of the window, they saw the garage in flames.

A large apple tree, situated between the garage and the house, probably saved the dwelling from destruction. Azdell is unable to account for the blaze as no lights or fires were burning in the building.

The coupe was owned by Levi Azdell, a son. Neither the two cars nor the building were insured.

20 Crippled Tots Will be Rotary's Guests Tomorrow

About 20 crippled children, who have received hospital treatment through the efforts of the Rotary club, will be guests at a outdoor meeting which will be held at the crippled children's playgrounds at the E. H. Riggs home, Park boulevard, tomorrow evening.

The affair will take the form of a dinner meeting, beginning at 5 o'clock. Tables will be arranged on the lawn and a picnic dinner served. A program of music will be featured. President F. L. Wells will preside.

The children will be taken to the Riggs home in automobiles furnished by Francis Wehner. Ladies of the Emmanuel church will serve the dinner.

A meeting of the club's directors and committee chairmen will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building at 7 o'clock tonight.

JURIST SAYS CHRIST IS TO BE CRUCIFIED AGAIN IN "SACRILEGIOUS" TENNESSEE EVOLUTION LAW TEST

EDITOR'S NOTE — Judge Neil is known to the English-speaking world as the "father" of "mothers' pensions," the system by which governments assisted widowed and destitute mothers in the care of their young. He has just returned from England and South Africa, where, at the invitation of British social agencies, he piloted through parliament a plan similar to that in effect in 42 of the 48 states here.

By FRANK I. WELLER.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 29.—After 20 centuries of Christianity Jesus Christ is to be crucified again!

Such denunciation was hurled at the approaching Tennessee evolution trial today by Judge Henry Neil of Chicago, internationally known humanitarian.

And the agony of the crucifix of doubt will be no less potent than the suffering of flesh and blood on the Cross of Cavalry.

"It is almost inconceivable that two thousand years of civilization finds mankind wondering whether the Savious was the Son of God or the lineal descendant of a self-developed form of life sired by a monkey," Judge Neil declared.

"Tennessee started out to punish John Scopes for teaching a theory contrary to the laws of the state. Overnight it has become the most sacrilegious affair of the generation.

"The agnostic and the dogmatist have seized upon the simple question of law to renew their age-old controversy over the Word of God. They have only this new guise of 'so-called evolution.'

"The real sinner is not the obscure and little-known school teacher. It is the man who lends assistance to exploitation of God's own work.

"We do not need the magnificent oratory of William Jennings Bryan to prove the truth of Genesis and the Virgin birth of Christ. Nor do we want to hear Clarence Darrow's matchless gospel of despair.

Will Not Alter Truth.

"May the shame of outraged decency strike these word-wise gladiators who have volunteered to enter an all-encompassing religious arena!

"The whole world will watch their battle, not of scientific knowledge, but of scientific persuasion. And when Christianity has been degraded and civilization profaned, the great truth of the universe will be altered not one whit.

"Darrow, the clever criminal lawyer, preaches a theory of hopelessness. He has admitted to a hundred juries his client was guilty, but that death was too good for him; that life without hope was a greater punishment. And each time he has cheated the executioner.

"Had I not believed in the glorious promise of celectial beautitude, his recent New York debate with Scott Nearing on whether life was worth living might have convinced me extermination of the race mattered little.

Hits Bryan's Course.

"Bryan professes the inaccurate belief he has been called to save Christ. He says the hope of the world is at stake. He is imbued with the philosophy of Henry Ward Beecher, who, attacking evolution, said: 'It makes no difference where I came from if I am not going anywhere.'

"Bryan doesn't want the reward of Heaven dissipated by proof that he descended from an ape.

"Let this nation rebuke the uncalled for demonstration that in reality places a hypothesis on the origin of Christ."

Carney was arrested in his home on the hillside back of West End; Morgan was picked up on Sixth street, where it is alleged he has been operating. Lawton at his home in California Hollow; Anderson at his home in Walnut street and Kail at his rooming house in Broadway.

All were arrested on warrants issued by McDermott on selling charges.

None of those in jail today was admitted to bond. They were to be given hearings before Mayor Charles Brown in police court at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

BEAUTY SHOP OWNER BADLY BURNED WHEN APRON IGNITES

Miss Mary Wright in Serious Condition in Hospital.

DOCTOR HOPEFUL

Victim, Clothing Ablaze, Runs Thru Corridor of Building.

Miss Mary Wright, owner of a beauty parlor and hair dressing establishment in the Little Building, is in a serious condition in the City hospital today, as the result of burns suffered about 7:15 o'clock Saturday evening when her apron caught fire from an alcohol burning curling iron heater. It is believed she will recover unless complications develop.

Dentist Smothers Flames.

Miss Wright was combing her hair as she was standing beside the heater. Her apron was fanned into a blaze and in an instant she was in a mass of flames.

Screaming, she ran into the corridor of the building. Dr. J. B. George, whose dental offices are across the hall from Miss Wright's parlors, answering her cries of distress, grasped two sheets from his office and wrapped them about the woman, smothering the flames. Most of her clothing had been burned from her body before the fire was extinguished.

She was seriously burned about the chest, abdomen, back and lower part of the body, while her face was slightly burned and her hair singed.

Dr. Albert Michaels, who occupies offices on the same floor as Miss Wright's parlors, dressed her injuries, following which she was taken to the hospital in the Sturgis ambulance.

HORSE KICKS MAN IN NECK

Frank Aley, Butcher, Victim of Accident in Fredericktown.

Frank Aley, 35, Avondale street butcher, narrowly escaped serious injury, Sunday morning, when he was kicked in the neck by a vicious horse.

Aley, who owns a summer home, about one-half mile from Fredericktown, was unhitching the horse from a drag which he had been using when the animal kicked just as he was unfastening a trace from the single tree. The blow caught Aley on the neck and chin, knocking three of his teeth loose and causing a partial paralysis of the larynx.

He was rendered unconscious and was carried into the house. Dr. J. J. Fitzsommons of Calcutta, was summoned and made an examination of his injuries.

Aley recovered consciousness several hours after the accident occurred. No bones were broken. His condition was reported to be considerably improved today.

BUSTER INGRAM IS HELD ON MANSLAUGHTER COUNT AS HE WAIVES HEARING

John, 7-year-old Son of Henry Martin, Colored, is Fatally Injured When Struck by Car on Newell-Congo Road in Congo Late Saturday Afternoon.

AUTHORITIES CLAIM DRIVER FAILED TO STOP FOLLOWING FATAL ACCIDENT

Two Girls, Who Were Passengers in Machine, are Called as Witnesses at Hearing in Chester, When Accused Furnishes $2,000 Bond Pending Investigation by Grand Jury.

Buster Ingram, 22, First Street, Chester, was held in $2,00 bond on a charge of manslaughter when arraigned yesterday before Justice A. G. Allison, of Chester, in connection with the death of John, 7, son of Henry Martin, colored, of Congo, who was struck by an automobile on the Newell-Congo road at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A charge of reckless driving, which had been filed previous to the boy's death, was held in abeyance until after the grand jury investigation.

The lad, whose skull was fractured and face badly crushed, died in his home 12 hours after the accident.

Young Ingram, who spent Saturday night in the Chester jail, was released after the bond was furnished by Elmer and Frank Hoskinson and Arch Ingram, his father. He waived a hearing upon advice of his attorney, W. W. Ingram.

Prosecutor Thomas S. Hoffman, of Weirton, represented the state.

Two Girls in Auto.

Coroner George A. Arner of Hancock county conducted an inquest and after hearing the testimony of several witnesses, including Miss Helen Webber of Pleasant Heights, East Liverpool, and Mrs. Hazel De Long of Newell, a verdict was returned that the boy met dis death by being run over by an automobile operated by Ingram and recommended that he be held for an investigation by the grand jury.

Testimony at the inquiry disclosed that Ingram, with the Webber and De Long women and another young man, whose name was not revealed, had been to New Cumberland and were enroute back to Chester when the fatal accident occurred.

At Congo, the Martin boy, who was playing in front of his home, stepped, it is claimed, from back of an ice wagon directly in the path of the car which struck him and dragged him a considerable distance.

Girls Reveal Driver's Name.

Ingram, authorities charge, failed to stop his car following the accident, but continued toward his destination. When the auto reached Laurel Hollow park in Newell, the girls, becoming frightened, left the machine and returning to Congo; informed the boy's family as to the driver's identity.

The dying boy was given medical attention by Dr. E. V. McEldowney of Newell.

Chief Seevers went to Ingram's home, where he found him in bed. Questioned by the chief he at first, it is stated, denied being the driver of the car, but when brought to the Chester city hall he admitted striking the boy and failing to give assistance. He was locked up, while the mayor and chief continued their investigation.

The body of the lad was taken to the home in Congo at the close of the inquest. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in a home of a relative in Wellsville. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

LIGHT CANDLES, LOOT SYNAGOGUE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Lighting the tall prayer candles to aid them in their work, thieves broke into a Synagogue in Madison street early today and stole the silver service, valued at $1,000.

Henry Linde, an aged watchman, was bound and gagged by the robbers.

FIRE DESTROYS COUPE, TRUCK

Blaze Sweeps Clarence Azdell Garage Near Calcutta.

Two automotive vehicles—a coupe and a truck—were destroyed when fire of mysterious origin razed a frame garage on the Clarence Azdell farm, about a mile west of Calcutta on the Cannons Mill road, at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

Members of the Azdell family were awakened by the blowing of the horn on one of the machines, which became short circuited. Looking out of the window, they saw the garage in flames.

A large apple tree, situated between the garage and the house, probably saved the dwelling from destruction. Azdell is unable to account for the blaze as no lights or fires were burning in the building.

The coupe was owned by Levi Azdell, a son. Neither the two cars nor the building were insured.

The children will be taken to the Riggs home in automobiles furnished by Francis Wehner. Ladies of the Emmanuel church will serve the dinner.

A meeting of the club's directors and committee chairmen will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Little building at 7 o'clock tonight.

JURIST SAYS CHRIST IS TO BE CRUCIFIED AGAIN IN "SACRILEGIOUS" TENNESSEE EVOLUTION LAW TEST

EDITOR'S NOTE — Judge Neil is known to the English-speaking world as the "father" of "mothers' pensions," the system by which governments assisted widowed and destitute mothers in the care of their young. He has just returned from England and South Africa, where, at the invitation of British social agencies, he piloted through parliament a plan similar to that in effect in 42 of the 48 states here.

By FRANK I. WELLER.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 29.—After 20 centuries of Christianity Jesus Christ is to be crucified again!

Such denunciation was hurled at the approaching Tennessee evolution trial today by Judge Henry Neil of Chicago, internationally known humanitarian.

And the agony of the crucifix of doubt will be no less potent than the suffering of flesh and blood on the Cross of Cavalry.

"It is almost inconceivable that two thousand years of civilization finds mankind wondering whether the Savious was the Son of God or the lineal descendant of a self-developed form of life sired by a monkey," Judge Neil declared.

"Tennessee started out to punish John Scopes for teaching a theory contrary to the laws of the state. Overnight it has become the most sacrilegious affair of the generation.

"The agnostic and the dogmatist have seized upon the simple question of law to renew their age-old controversy over the Word of God. They have only this new guise of 'so-called evolution.'

"The real sinner is not the obscure and little-known school teacher. It is the man who lends assistance to exploitation of God's own work.

"We do not need the magnificent oratory of William Jennings Bryan to prove the truth of Genesis and the Virgin birth of Christ. Nor do we want to hear Clarence Darrow's matchless gospel of despair.

Will Not Alter Truth.

"May the shame of outraged decency strike these word-wise gladiators who have volunteered to enter an all-encompassing religious arena!

"The whole world will watch their battle, not of scientific knowledge, but of scientific persuasion. And when Christianity has been degraded and civilization profaned, the great truth of the universe will be altered not one whit.

"Darrow, the clever criminal lawyer, preaches a theory of hopelessness. He has admitted to a hundred juries his client was guilty, but that death was too good for him; that life without hope was a greater punishment. And each time he has cheated the executioner.

"Had I not believed in the glorious promise of celectial beautitude, his recent New York debate with Scott Nearing on whether life was worth living might have convinced me extermination of the race mattered little.

Hits Bryan's Course.

"Bryan professes the inaccurate belief he has been called to save Christ. He says the hope of the world is at stake. He is imbued with the philosophy of Henry Ward Beecher, who, attacking evolution, said: 'It makes no difference where I came from if I am not going anywhere.'

"Bryan doesn't want the reward of Heaven dissipated by proof that he descended from an ape.

"Let this nation rebuke the uncalled for demonstration that in reality places a hypothesis on the origin of Christ."

COL. COOLIDGE RALLIES FROM ILLNESS; HOPE OF RECOVERY

Next 36 Hours Will Tell Whether Operation Has Saved Him.

SON AT BEDSIDE

Five Doctors, Interne and Two Nurses Aid in Battle.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 29.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, 80 years old, father of the president, has rallied from the acute prostratic ailment that on Sunday necessitated an emergency operation, to such a point that his physicians are most hopeful of his ultimate recovery.

They admit, however, in view of his advanved age and the extrme soriousness of his illness, that the crisis is not yet passed and that a relapse may follow unless great care is taken.

Best evidence of the confidence of the attending physicians came when Dr. Arthur L. Chute, genito urinary specialist from Boston, departed from Plymouth at 9 o'clock. Dr. Chute rendered the final diagnosis of the colonel's illness and performed yesterday's operation.

Major J. F. Coupal, the President's physician, has advised the executive that unless unforseen complications set in, it will be possible for him to leave his father's bedside in time to deliver his scheduled address at Cambridge and Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, showed their relief plainly following the favorable report of the doctors. After breakfast they came out on the front porch and sat on the step and chatted happily.

Five doctors, an interne and two nurses are battling against advanced age and the prostatic ailment that is threatening the president's father. They are hopeful of success, but they admit the crisis is not yet passed.

Air of Optimism Prevails.

In attendance are Major J. F. Coupal, the president's personal physician, who was rushed here from Massachusetts in advance of the executive and Mrs. Coolidge; Dr. Arthur L. Chule of Boston, professor of genito urinary surgery at Tufts college; Dr. A. M. Cram of Bridgewater, Vt., the colonel's physician; Drs. C. F. Ball and C. M. Swift of the Rutland, Vt., hospital staff; Miss Mary Trainer, nurse from the Corey Hill hospital, Boston, and Mrs. Mary Johnson of Rutland, who nursed the president's stepmother during her last illness.

A distinct air of optimism prevailed throughout the old Coolidge homestead. The president and Mrs. Coolidge, their son, John, and Attorney General Sargent—those at the bedside—all are most hopeful.

It was a dramatic setting into which the president and his party entered late yesterday. Just five hours and forty minutes after Mr. Coolidge at White Court in Swampscott, had heard from the attending physicians that his father was sinking, the presidential party arrived at Plymouth. Through driving rain, the party had motored to Boston where a hastily arranged special train was waiting.

Jokes as Physicians Cut.

With a clear track and under full steam, the special made its run to Ludlow, Vt., in record time, cutting nearly an hour from the usual schedule. At Ludlow, the motor trip again was resumed in the midst of a torrential rain that had washed out one bridge and had made the entire 12-mile journey over the mountains most precarious.

Arriving at Plymouth, the president found his father already had submitted to the surgeon's knife. Streached on an improvised operating table constructed from an ordinary table and a patch quilt, Colonel Coolidge had been given a local anaesthetic and subjected to a cystotomy operation, or an operation to open and drain the bladder which is designed to relieve the terrific pain suffered by one afflicted with prostatic trouble which resulted in Colonel Coolidge's illness. With a stoic calm which characterizes the Coolidges, the president's father had walked unaided to the table and had joked with the physicians while they performed the painful operation.

Attorney General Calls Doctor.

That night, his grandson returned and became alarmed at his grandfather's condition. Colonel Coolidge, however, refused to permit John to call a doctor, and, for the entire night, remained in his chair, refusing all assistance.

On Saturday he was obviously worse. Attorney General Sargent, leaving his home at Ludlow for Washington, dropped in to say goodbye. Sensing the true conditions of his old friend, Sargent took matters in his own hands and summoned Dr. Cram. After a quick diagnosis, the President was notified at Swampscott, and the orders went forth that brought Major Coupal and Dr. Chute post haste to Plymouth.

BATHER IS HURT AS HE DIVES

Joseph Barlow, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jethro Barlow, 420 Grant street, sustained a deep scalp wound and injuries to his nose when he dove onto a rock while swimming in Beaver creek Sunday afternoon.

He was taken to the City hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. A. J. Michaels, and later assisted to his home.

what a good memory he has; nice poem."

But if you were told that it was a visiting doctor, trying to soothe the patient by the lines in which Byron describes the sensation of a man who has just lost the lady that pleased him, you would say, "Nice doctor; not insane; he wanted whisky, and knew that the doctors would give it to him to revivie him; stimulate his heart. He wanted whisky for a moment more than he wanted his left hand for the rest of his life; more than he wanted to avoid pain, and possible death. If the man had been drunk at the time, which he was not, it would have been called "alcoholic insanity." It was simply an intense desire of one kind overshadowing and controlling all other emotion.

Be sure that there exists in this universe, on higher planets, great intelligence to which all of us poor creatures would seem insane, hopeless idiots.

What would real intelligence think of us, with out minds centered on this little grain of earth that we inhabit, thinking rarely if ever of the real universe; concentrated on our selfish interests, scarcely ever asking whence we came, whither we are going, or why we are here?

Suppose one of our "alienists," a specialist in insanity, should see out in the ocean a raft crowded with human beings, singing, dancing, cheating each other, starving each other, borrowing, trading—not one of them asking how he got on the raft, or where the raft was going, or what would happen sooner or later?

The alienist would say, "Some cruel person has loaded the raft with mad men and women, and set it adrift."

Our earth is just that kind of a raft, and we travelers argue about sanity and insanity—and know very little about it. He who calls himself sane may be insane, and vice versa.

"He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it."—St. Matthew x, 30.

A man goes almost to certain death because he wants to discover the north pole—he is a hero.

A man walks off the edge of a roof to prove that he can fly with a pair of wings that he has made—he is crazy.

A poor creature in the insane asylum refuses to eat. He is buried as a pauper lunatic.

Another poor creature sits on top of a high column, starves himself, lives in horrible filth—he is praised to the sky and make a saint.

A difficult question, "What is insanity?"

A question much more difficult and much more important to you all is this one:

What is intelligence?

What is "It" that "knows," that lives within us, that distinguishes right from wrong, that controls the impulses of the animals from which we descend?

Insanity is the working of a mental machine out of order, no matter what the disorder may be, whether it be the mild insanity of the spendtarift, or of the miser, or the murderer's insanity that kills.

What is intelligence, what is that power on this earth, not understood, that consciousness, knowledge, intelligence, soul, whatever you may call it, that applies force to matter and organizes this earth?

This is a study worth while. If you have not read a good book on the construction and functions of the human brain, you have failed to interest yourself in the most marvelous machinery existing on this earth.

HUGE PROPERTY LOSS IN QUAKE

Fear Grips Montana; No Casualties During Earth Tremors.

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—Fear continues today to grip residents of Montana as a result of the widespread convulsions of mother earth which, beginning early Saturday evening continued at intervals until late Sunday afternoon.

By a great miracle not a life was lost during the series of earthquakes, but the populations of cities and towns became panic-stricken as the oscillating waves, which caused a rumbling and shaking over the entire state, were felt in Idaho, Wyoming and Washington. Property damage is estimated as high as $1,000,000.

Shifting a long a main fault under the Rocky mountains near the Missouri river started the earthquake that rocked Montana from end to end, according to the belief of geologists, foremost among them being President C. H. Clapp, of the University of Montana, at Missoula.

Two Towns Hard Hit.

The main fault was on a line between Three Forks and Manhattan, 11 miles apart, 60 miles north of the Yellowstone National park and 150 miles east of Butte. These two town were by far the hardest hit by the tremors, all business blocks in both being destroyed with more than 90 per cent of homes damaged. In Manhattan a school building collapsed during one tremor Sunday afternoon after it had withstood forty distinct shocks in that vicinity.

Citizens of Three Forks and Manhattan spent Saturday night and Sunday on vacant lots or in fields outside the town while only a few were venturing back to their homes today.

Greatest panic following the quakes was felt by passengers on Northern Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul through trains. Three trains were blocked by landslides with the tracks ahead and behind piled high with rock and debris.

Railroad officials could not allay the panic of the passengers who felt every minute that they would be carried into eternity.

Raports today, however, indicate that none suffered injury and the hundreds of travelers walked to safety and rode in wagons or automobiles to other trains beyond the slides.

Cliff Topples Over

On the Milwaukee road a cliff 800 feet high toppled over the track leaving a pile of rocks 200 feet high for a distance of 500 feet just near the Lombard tunnel, which caved in. Two thousand laborers have been rushed to the scene of this disaster and it is estimated that it will take such a crew 15 days to clear the debris.

Tourists in Yellow Stone National park have been assured of their safety by forest rangers who kept a close watch and found no unusual geysers or volcanic action although the earthquakes were centered only a short distance away.

Geologists who located the center of the disturbance area predicted today that the lower rock strata has settled itself on an even keel and that it will be many years before another fault can occur.

A fissure in the earth, a few feet deep and varying from four to six inches in width extends from Three Fork to Manhattan with hot water bubbling up in numerous places in that district.

Tunnel Blockaded.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—Differing reports of the extent of the blockade near Lombard tunnel, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in Montana, as the result of earthquake shocks in that region Saturday and Sunday, reached the roads Seattle headquarters today.

According to one report which is given more credence than others, a huge boulder 20 feet high and weighing several hundred tons is blocking the line near the tunnel. The tunnel itself caved in.

Reports here further indicated that crews which worked all of last night clearing the tunnel with steam shovels were expected not only to open up that passage today but were to blast the big boulder, said to be the last remaining obstacle, within the same time limit.

Motorists Warned They Must Observe "Keep to Right" Edict

Motorists must observe the "keep to the right" regulations in passing the "silent cop" at the intersection of St. Clair avenue and Broadway or face arrest, Chief McDermott warned today.

"Motorists should not speed while approaching this intersection in order to make the sharp turn at the new traffic signals," the police head said. "Special care should be exercised by machines coming down the hill and turning off on Broadway and by those traveling up the hill on St. Clair avenue."

Police have been on duty at this point for several days to warn motorists. All violators in the future are to be ordered to appear before the mayor.

Raid Restaurant; Owner Fined $500 By Mayor Brown

Ed Mullen, Dresden avenue restaurant keeper, was arrested by Patrolman McFarland, Turnkey Cline and Special Officer Torrence Saturday night, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. Three pints of bonded whisky are alleged to have been seized by the police.

Arraigned before Mayor Brown, Mullen was fined $500 and costs. He paid part of the fine and arranged to pay the remainder.

QUAKE SHAKES WESTERN CANADA

SASKATOON, Sask., June 29.—The quake that rocked Montana Saturday and Sunday was felt all over the western Canadian prairie, according to reports here today. In this city buildings swayed and cracked, citizens rushed into the streets in a near-panic and tremendous excitement was aroused late Saturday when the effects of the first earthquake were felt. The whole tremor lasted about an hour, starting at 6 p. m., and ending with a violent disturbance at 7:12. The needle of the University of Saskatchewan seismograph was oscillated out of adjustment.

Calgary, in Alberta, was also rocked by the quake, the first earth disturbance in that city's history. There was only slight damage.

Santa Barbara

broken out in the earthquake stricken city of Santa Barbara.

R. High, a Santa Barbara newspaper man, who arrived here this morning by automobile, reported three houses were in flames.

All water mains in the city are believed broken.

The little town of Goleta, near Santa Barbara, was badly shaken and then fire broke out, completely destroying the town, according to reports brought here by automobile couriers.

Chimneys were wrecked and dishes broken in Ventura, but no serious damage was done here.

Berkeley Records Shock

BERKELEY CAL., June 29.—One of the severest earthquakes ever recorded on the university of California seismomograph was being registered here today. The main shock, according to professor Terry Byerley, in charge of the university observatory was registered before 5 a. m. and the pen was still oscillating. At one time the vibrations were so violent the needle was forced off the drum for three minutes. The vibrations were continuing Byerley said, and it was impossible to withdraw the record until the needle stopped recording.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—A violent shock, lasting five minutes, was recorded on the university of Washington seismograph at 7 a. m. today. So violent was the tremor that the recording needle was thrown clear off one drum. It was impossible to tell from what direction the shock came. It was recorded equally by the north-south and east-west instruments. Though more violent tremblor was felt for only a few minutes, lesser tremors continued for 45 minutes.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 29.—Earth shocks shook Los Angeles at 6:44 o'clock this morning.

In several sections of the city persons were thrown out of bed and dishes broken.

The tremors came in two violent series, the first continuing for 10 or 15 seconds. Buildings were rocked but no property damage was reported.

Many residents rushed into the streets, fearing structures would crash.

The second shock was less violent but swayed buildings.

According to reports from various sections of the city, the shocks came inland from the sea and moved to the southwestern section of Los Angeles, where they were believed most violent.

Other Cities Rocked.

SANTA FAULA, Calif., June 29.—Earth tremors rocked Santa Paula, Oxnard and Ventura this morning. Five shocks, starting at 6:44 o'clock, were felt. The last shock occurred at 7:50 o'clock.

Several buildings were reported to have cracked walls as a result of the tremors but there was no other damage.

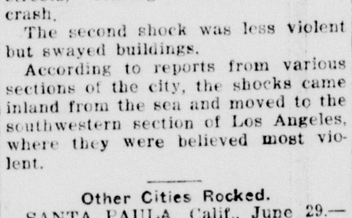

The shocks were felt generally throughout Ventura county, according to reports here.

Two East Liverpool Delegates Honored At War Vets' Meet

CANTON FEARS FRESH CLASH

Foreigners Urged to Leave as Situation Becomes Dangerous.

CANTON, June 29.—The situation at Canton was dangerously critical today.

The British and French consuls requested all foreigners leave Shameen, the foreign concession. A possible recurrence of the armed conflict of last week when Chinese students fired on Shameen and were anwered by the foreign marines, was feared.

PEKING, June 29.—Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, military power of Peking, today backed the government's request for a revision of unequal treaties with a public statement in which he declared his willingness to fight "the enemies of China."

The demand heard in the streets and posted on placards for a declaration of war against England became more insistent on the heels of Marshal Feng's statement. Others ask that diplomatic relations with Great Britain be severed.

SHANGHAI, June 29. — Although the Merchants' association apparently was working for a resumption of normal relations and a complete halt of the general strike, conditions were not normal here today.

One Chinese woman was in a hospital and several others were suffering from lesser injuries from an acid attack on a tram car Sunday. A gang of roughs threw a bottle of Vitriol into the car.

COL. COOLIDGE RALLIES FROM ILLNESS; HOPE OF RECOVERY

Next 36 Hours Will Tell Whether Operation Has Saved Him.

SON AT BEDSIDE

Five Doctors, Interne and Two Nurses Aid in Battle.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 29.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, 80 years old, father of the president, has rallied from the acute prostratic ailment that on Sunday necessitated an emergency operation, to such a point that his physicians are most hopeful of his ultimate recovery.

They admit, however, in view of his advanved age and the extrme soriousness of his illness, that the crisis is not yet passed and that a relapse may follow unless great care is taken.

Best evidence of the confidence of the attending physicians came when Dr. Arthur L. Chute, genito urinary specialist from Boston, departed from Plymouth at 9 o'clock. Dr. Chute rendered the final diagnosis of the colonel's illness and performed yesterday's operation.

Major J. F. Coupal, the President's physician, has advised the executive that unless unforseen complications set in, it will be possible for him to leave his father's bedside in time to deliver his scheduled address at Cambridge and Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, showed their relief plainly following the favorable report of the doctors. After breakfast they came out on the front porch and sat on the step and chatted happily.

Five doctors, an interne and two nurses are battling against advanced age and the prostatic ailment that is threatening the president's father. They are hopeful of success, but they admit the crisis is not yet passed.

Air of Optimism Prevails.

In attendance are Major J. F. Coupal, the president's personal physician, who was rushed here from Massachusetts in advance of the executive and Mrs. Coolidge; Dr. Arthur L. Chule of Boston, professor of genito urinary surgery at Tufts college; Dr. A. M. Cram of Bridgewater, Vt., the colonel's physician; Drs. C. F. Ball and C. M. Swift of the Rutland, Vt., hospital staff; Miss Mary Trainer, nurse from the Corey Hill hospital, Boston, and Mrs. Mary Johnson of Rutland, who nursed the president's stepmother during her last illness.

A distinct air of optimism prevailed throughout the old Coolidge homestead. The president and Mrs. Coolidge, their son, John, and Attorney General Sargent—those at the bedside—all are most hopeful.

It was a dramatic setting into which the president and his party entered late yesterday. Just five hours and forty minutes after Mr. Coolidge at White Court in Swampscott, had heard from the attending physicians that his father was sinking, the presidential party arrived at Plymouth. Through driving rain, the party had motored to Boston where a hastily arranged special train was waiting.

Jokes as Physicians Cut.

With a clear track and under full steam, the special made its run to Ludlow, Vt., in record time, cutting nearly an hour from the usual schedule. At Ludlow, the motor trip again was resumed in the midst of a torrential rain that had washed out one bridge and had made the entire 12-mile journey over the mountains most precarious.

Arriving at Plymouth, the president found his father already had submitted to the surgeon's knife. Streached on an improvised operating table constructed from an ordinary table and a patch quilt, Colonel Coolidge had been given a local anaesthetic and subjected to a cystotomy operation, or an operation to open and drain the bladder which is designed to relieve the terrific pain suffered by one afflicted with prostatic trouble which resulted in Colonel Coolidge's illness. With a stoic calm which characterizes the Coolidges, the president's father had walked unaided to the table and had joked with the physicians while they performed the painful operation.

Attorney General Calls Doctor.

That night, his grandson returned and became alarmed at his grandfather's condition. Colonel Coolidge, however, refused to permit John to call a doctor, and, for the entire night, remained in his chair, refusing all assistance.

On Saturday he was obviously worse. Attorney General Sargent, leaving his home at Ludlow for Washington, dropped in to say goodbye. Sensing the true conditions of his old friend, Sargent took matters in his own hands and summoned Dr. Cram. After a quick diagnosis, the President was notified at Swampscott, and the orders went forth that brought Major Coupal and Dr. Chute post haste to Plymouth.

BATHER IS HURT AS HE DIVES

Joseph Barlow, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jethro Barlow, 420 Grant street, sustained a deep scalp wound and injuries to his nose when he dove onto a rock while swimming in Beaver creek Sunday afternoon.

He was taken to the City hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. A. J. Michaels, and later assisted to his home.

what a good memory he has; nice poem."

But if you were told that it was a visiting doctor, trying to soothe the patient by the lines in which Byron describes the sensation of a man who has just lost the lady that pleased him, you would say, "Nice doctor; not insane; he wanted whisky, and knew that the doctors would give it to him to revivie him; stimulate his heart. He wanted whisky for a moment more than he wanted his left hand for the rest of his life; more than he wanted to avoid pain, and possible death. If the man had been drunk at the time, which he was not, it would have been called "alcoholic insanity." It was simply an intense desire of one kind overshadowing and controlling all other emotion.

Be sure that there exists in this universe, on higher planets, great intelligence to which all of us poor creatures would seem insane, hopeless idiots.

What would real intelligence think of us, with out minds centered on this little grain of earth that we inhabit, thinking rarely if ever of the real universe; concentrated on our selfish interests, scarcely ever asking whence we came, whither we are going, or why we are here?

Suppose one of our "alienists," a specialist in insanity, should see out in the ocean a raft crowded with human beings, singing, dancing, cheating each other, starving each other, borrowing, trading—not one of them asking how he got on the raft, or where the raft was going, or what would happen sooner or later?

The alienist would say, "Some cruel person has loaded the raft with mad men and women, and set it adrift."

Our earth is just that kind of a raft, and we travelers argue about sanity and insanity—and know very little about it. He who calls himself sane may be insane, and vice versa.

"He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it."—St. Matthew x, 30.

A man goes almost to certain death because he wants to discover the north pole—he is a hero.

A man walks off the edge of a roof to prove that he can fly with a pair of wings that he has made—he is crazy.

A poor creature in the insane asylum refuses to eat. He is buried as a pauper lunatic.

Another poor creature sits on top of a high column, starves himself, lives in horrible filth—he is praised to the sky and make a saint.

A difficult question, "What is insanity?"

A question much more difficult and much more important to you all is this one:

What is intelligence?

What is "it" that "knows," that lives within us, that distinguishes right from wrong, that controls the impulses of the animals from which we descend?

Insanity is the working of a mental machine out of order, no matter what the disorder may be, whether it be the mild insanity of the spendthrift, or of the miser, or the murderer's insanity that kills.

What is intelligence, what is that power on this earth, not understood, that consciousness, knowledge, intelligence, soul, whatever you may call it, that applies force to matter and organizes this earth?

This is a study worth while. If you have not read a good book on the construction and functions of the human brain, you have failed to interest yourself in the most marvelous machinery existing on this earth.

HUGE PROPERTY LOSS IN QUAKE

Fear Grips Montana; No Casualties During Earth Tremors.

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—Fear continues today to grip residents of Montana as a result of the widespread convulsions of mother earth which, beginning early Saturday evening continued at intervals until late Sunday afternoon.

By a great miracle not a life was lost during the series of earthquakes, but the populations of cities and towns became panic-stricken as the oscillating waves, which caused a rumbling and shaking over the entire state, were felt in Idaho, Wyoming and Washington. Property damage is estimated as high as $1,000,000.

Shifting a long a main fault under the Rocky mountains near the Missouri river started the earthquake that rocked Montana from end to end, according to the belief of geologists, foremost among them being President C. H. Clapp, of the University of Montana, at Missoula.

Two Towns Hard Hit.

The main fault was on a line between Three Forks and Manhattan, 11 miles apart, 60 miles north of the Yellowstone National park and 150 miles east of Butte. These two town were by far the hardest hit by the tremors, all business blocks in both being destroyed with more than 90 per cent of homes damaged. In Manhattan a school building collapsed during one tremor Sunday afternoon after it had withstood forty distinct shocks in that vicinity.

Citizens of Three Forks and Manhattan spent Saturday night and Sunday on vacant lots or in fields outside the town while only a few were venturing back to their homes today.

Greatest panic following the quakes was felt by passengers on Northern Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul through trains. Three trains were blocked by landslides with the tracks ahead and behind piled high with rock and debris.

Railroad officials could not allay the panic of the passengers who felt every minute that they would be carried into eternity.

Reports today, however, indicate that none suffered injury and the hundreds of travelers walked to safety and rode in wagons or automobiles to other trains beyond the slides.

Cliff Topples Over

On the Milwaukee road a cliff 800 feet high toppled over the track leaving a pile of rocks 200 feet high for a distance of 500 feet just near the Lombard tunnel, which caved in. Two thousand laborers have been rushed to the scene of this disaster and it is estimated that it will take such a crew 15 days to clear the debris.

Tourists in Yellow Stone National park have been assured of their safety by forest rangers who kept a close watch and found no unusual geysers or volcanic action although the earthquakes were centered only a short distance away.

Geologists who located the center of the disturbance area predicted today that the lower rock strata has settled itself on an even keel and that it will be many years before another fault can occur.

A fissure in the earth, a few feet deep and varying from four to six inches in width extends from Three Fork to Manhattan with hot water bubbling up in numerous places in that district.

Tunnel Blockaded.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—Differing reports of the extent of the blockade near Lombard tunnel, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in Montana, as the result of earthquake shocks in that region Saturday and Sunday, reached the roads Seattle headquarters today.

According to one report which is given more credence than others, a huge boulder 20 feet high and weighing several hundred tons is blocking the line near the tunnel. The tunnel itself caved in.

Reports here further indicated that crews which worked all of last night clearing the tunnel with steam shovels were expected not only to open up that passage today but were to blast the big boulder, said to be the last remaining obstacle, within the same time limit.

Motorists Warned They Must Observe "Keep to Right" Edict

Motorists must observe the "keep to the right" regulations in passing the "silent cop" at the intersection of St. Clair avenue and Broadway or face arrest, Chief McDermott warned today.

"Motorists should not speed while approaching this intersection in order to make the sharp turn at the new traffic signals," the police head said. "Special care should be exercised by machines coming down the hill and turning off on Broadway and by those traveling up the hill on St. Clair avenue."

Police have been on duty at this point for several days to warn motorists. All violators in the future are to be ordered to appear before the mayor.

Raid Restaurant; Owner Fined $500 By Mayor Brown

Ed Mullen, Dresden avenue restaurant keeper, was arrested by Patrolman McFarland, Turnkey Cline and Special Officer Torrence Saturday night, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. Three pints of bonded whisky are alleged to have been seized by the police.

Arraigned before Mayor Brown, Mullen was fined $500 and costs. He paid part of the fine and arranged to pay the remainder.

QUAKE SHAKES WESTERN CANADA

SASKATOON, Sask., June 29.—The quake that rocked Montana Saturday and Sunday was felt all over the western Canadian prairie, according to reports here today. In this city buildings swayed and cracked, citizens rushed into the streets in a near-panic and tremendous excitement was aroused late Saturday when the effects of the first earthquake were felt. The whole tremor lasted about an hour, starting at 6 p. m., and ending with a violent disturbance at 7:12. The needle of the University of Saskatchewan seismograph was oscillated out of adjustment.

Calgary, in Alberta, was also rocked by the quake, the first earth disturbance in that city's history. There was only slight damage.

Santa Barbara

broken out in the earthquake stricken city of Santa Barbara.

R. High, a Santa Barbara newspaper man, who arrived here this morning by automobile, reported three houses were in flames.

All water mains in the city are believed broken.

The little town of Goleta, near Santa Barbara, was badly shaken and then fire broke out, completely destroying the town, according to reports brought here by automobile couriers.

Chimneys were wrecked and dishes broken in Ventura, but no serious damage was done here.

Berkeley Records Shock

BERKELEY CAL., June 29.—One of the severest earthquakes ever recorded on the university of California seismograph was being registered here today. The main shock, according to professor Terry Byerley, in charge of the university observatory was registered before 5 a. m. and the pen was still oscillating. At one time the vibrations were so violent the needle was forced off the drum for three minutes. The vibrations were continuing Byerley said, and it was impossible to withdraw the record until the needle stopped recording.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—A violent shock, lasting five minutes, was recorded on the university of Washington seismograph at 7 a. m. today. So violent was the tremor that the recording needle was thrown clear off one drum. It was impossible to tell from what direction the shock came. It was recorded equally by the north-south and east-west instruments. Though more violent trembior was felt for only a few minutes, lesser tremors continued for 45 minutes.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 29.—Earth shocks shook Los Angeles at 6:44 o'clock this morning.

In several sections of the city persons were thrown out of bed and dishes broken.

The tremors came in two violent series, the first continuing for 10 or 15 seconds. Buildings were rocked but no property damage was reported.

Many residents rushed into the streets, fearing structures would crash.

The second shock was less violent but swayed buildings.

According to reports from various sections of the city, the shocks came inland from the sea and moved to the southwestern section of Los Angeles, where they were believed most violent.

Other Cities Rocked.

SANTA PAULA, Calif., June 29.—Earth tremors rocked Santa Paula, Oxnard and Ventura this morning. Five shocks, starting at 6:44 o'clock, were felt. The last shock occurred at 7:50 o'clock.

Several buildings were reported to have cracked walls as a result of the tremors but there was no other damage.

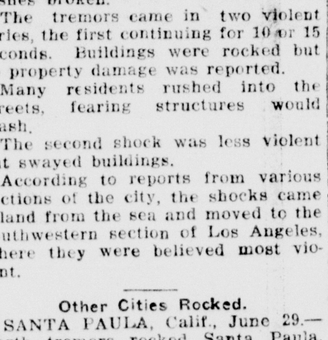

The shocks were felt generally throughout Ventura county, according to reports here.

CANTON FEARS FRESH CLASH

Foreigners Urged to Leave as Situation Becomes Dangerous.

CANTON, June 29.—The situation at Canton was dangerously critical today.

The British and French consuls requested all foreigners leave Shameen, the foreign concession. A possible recurrence of the armed conflict of last week when Chinese students fired on Shameen and were anwered by the foreign marines, was feared.

PEKING, June 29.—Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, military power of Peking, today backed the government's request for a revision of unequal treaties with a public statement in which he declared his willingness to fight "the enemies of China."

The demand heard in the streets and posted on placards for a declaration of war against England became more insistent on the heels of Marshal Feng's statement. Others ask that diplomatic relations with Great Britain be severed.

SHANGHAI, June 29. — Although the Merchants' association apparently was working for a resumption of normal relations and a complete halt of the general strike, conditions were not normal here today.

One Chinese woman was in a hospital and several others were suffering from lesser injuries from an acid attack on a tram car Sunday. A gang of roughs threw a bottle of Vitriol into the car.

CLOSE OFFICE OF RED CROSS

Receipts Insufficient to Carry on, Committee Explains.

The offices of the Wellsville branch of the American Red Cross will be closed on Wednesday, July 1, the executive committee of the local chapter announced today.

The receipts from the annual roll call are not sufficient for the upkeep of the office and the demands upon it, asserted the executive committee which also points out that demands are chiefly civilian and these are few in summer. The soldier work, it is claimed, has been well taken care of and grows less each year.

In announcing the closing of the Red Cross offices, the executive committee issued the following statement:

"At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Wellsville chapter, American Red Cross, it was decided to close the office of the Red Cross on July 1.

"The reason for this action of the committee is due to the fact that the receipts from the annual roll call are not sufficient for the upkeep of the office and the demands made upon it.

"At the close of the war, the Wellsville chapter had a balance of $4,000. Each year this reserve fund has had to be drawn upon until now there is not quite $1,000, which, with the amount received from roll call would not be sufficient for more than a half year's work. The amount received from the one dollar memberships is nominal. The greater part of the money subscribed at roll call comes as donations from the business men of the city.

"The demands being made upon the Red Cross are chiefly civilian and these demands are few in the summer. The soldier work has been well taken care of and grows less each year.

"In order to retain the balance in the treasury for local uses the organization must be continued, the annual roll call must be taken and the funds be set aside for some special and definite purpose. The executive committee voted to deposit the balance in the treasury as a fund for community disaster and epidemic only.

"The committee wishes to acknowledge their appreciation for the support that has been given them by many loyal citizens."

Doctor Jailed for Baptizing Child in Absence of Father

MOSCOW, June.—Because he baptized his grandson during the temporary absence of the child's Communist father, Dr. Stefan Georgieff, retired physician, has been charged with "moral assault" by Ivan Michailoff, his son-in-law, and indicted before the Moscow Lower Court. While the father was away the baby fell sick, and Dr. Georgieff, fearing it might die unbaptized, waited until the mother left the house, and then had the child christened. He now faces trial for his offence.

CLOSE OFFICE OF RED CROSS

Receipts Insufficient to Carry on, Committee Explains.

The offices of the Wellsville branch of the American Red Cross will be closed on Wednesday, July 1, the executive committee of the local chapter announced today.

The receipts from the annual roll call are not sufficient for the upkeep of the office and the demands upon it, asserted the executive committee which also points out that demands are chiefly civilian and these are few in summer. The soldier work, it is claimed, has been well taken care of and grows less each year.

In announcing the closing of the Red Cross offices, the executive committee issued the following statement:

"At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Wellsville chapter, American Red Cross, it was decided to close the office of the Red Cross on July 1.

"The reason for this action of the committee is due to the fact that the receipts from the annual roll call are not sufficient for the upkeep of the office and the demands made upon it.

"At the close of the war, the Wellsville chapter had a balance of $4,000. Each year this reserve fund has had to be drawn upon until now there is not quite $1,000, which, with the amount received from roll call would not be sufficient for more than a half year's work. The amount received from the one dollar memberships is nominal. The greater part of the money subscribed at roll call comes as donations from the business men of the city.

"The demands being made upon the Red Cross are chiefly civilian and these demands are few in the summer. The soldier work has been well taken care of and grows less each year.

"In order to retain the balance in the treasury for local uses the organization must be continued, the annual roll call must be taken and the funds be set aside for some special and definite purpose. The executive committee voted to deposit the balance in the treasury as a fund for community disaster and epidemic only.

"The committee wishes to acknowledge their appreciation for the support that has been given them by many loyal citizens."

Better Dry Enforcement

Having waged effective warfare against the rum traffic on the sea, the government is now following the obvious course of carrying the war into the land. Bootlegging is to be assailed as smuggling has been. The whole federal enforcement machinery is being overhauled, and changes are being introduced that promise more effective action.

The most striking step is the effort made to separate dry enforcement from politics. This end is sought by giving the treasury department genuine authority and substituting 22 commissioners, controlling as many districts, for the present system of state commissioners. With state lines wiped out in this activity, political influence should be cut to a minimum.

Eliminating politics, if that can really be done, will help immensely. Greater centralization of authority will help, too. The most reassuring factor of all is the evident determination of the government to use more vigor than ever before. With adequate support from state and local authorities, there should be a notable victory for law and decency.

Lynching Declines

The commission on race relations announces in its annual report that 45 attempted lynchings were prevented in the year 1924. Lynchings have dropped from 52 in 1914 to only 16 in 1924.

Two chief reasons for this improvement are given. One is the more effective work of public officials in protecting threatened prisoners from mobs. The other is the steady growth of public opinion against lynching, particularly in the south.

This great gain in the prevention of lynchings seems the more remarkable in view of the shockingly high murder rate. If mobs can be prevented from killing the victims of their wrath, surely greater success should be possible in preventing private slayings. Public opinion which has weight against the mob should also have weight against the gunman, the poisoner and their like, at least to the extent of depriving them of their weapons.

Seceding Chicago

Chicago talks of seceding from Illinois. It would probably assume the status of a sovereign state itself. A resolution in the city council directs the corporation counsel to report on the proper legal procedure.

New York city has threatened at various times to take such action, for the same reasons influencing Chicago. It is a situation that is likely to arise in the chief city of any state when the rest of the state persistently imposes its will on the metropolis, refuses to take an interest in the latter's problems and ignores what the metropolis regards as its political and financial rights.

There has been a good deal of talk in this country about the cities exploiting the rural sections. On the whole, it is possible that the cities have suffered more from rural tyranny and exploitation.

An American Dictionary

The American language, as distinguished from the English spoken in most British lands, is to be dignified with a dictionary of its own. One of the greatest living lexicographers, Dr. William A. Craigie, an editor of the mammoth Oxford dictionary, has come to this country for the purpose of compiling a complete dictionary of the "American language."

Americans, according to this authority, are reluctant to admit that their English differs from that of England. They soon find, however, if they go to England to travel, that American terms are not easily understood and that English terms bewilder an American.

If this distresses any American who fears that we overdo our use of slang and are losing something important if we lose the English meanings for certain words, Dr. Craigie's reassurances should be welcome. He says:

"The United States is now at a period in its national development which corresponds closely to the Elizabethan age in England. It is a period of intellectual cleativeness and invention. The extraordinary facility that you, as a people, exhibit in the coining of picturesque and expressive slang, is only one of many manifestations of this."

And so there will be a place for important slang in this dictionary, along with other distinctive Americanisms.

Canada Vs. Rum-Running

A group of Ontario prohibitionists is demanding of the prime minister the enactment of effective legislation that would put an "end to the national disgrace of rum-running upon our international border," and the prohibition in any province of the manufacture of liquor when the sale is prohibited.

It is a hopeful suggestion. It is also gratifying to law-abiding Americans on this side of the Canadian border to learn that rum-running is not the favorite occupation of Canadians in general. A stricter check maintained on all liquor shipments from the Dominion will go far toward reducing the amount of illicit liquor which has been finding its way across the border. It will help, too, to elminate the danger of ill-feeling in Canada toward our enlarged rum-navy of the Great Lakes.

The Fourth of July is a good day, too, for defense against firecrackers and toy pistols.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 29.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and could eat nothing but a bite of toast and a sip of orange juice and so to see Sinclair Lewis home from his world travels and found him less freckled than usual and bravely gay.

A hot stick day and few people abroad. After a walk in the park I sat on a stone bench and a fellow with a reeling gait, hicuppy voice and bloodshot eyes sat beside me and fell to snoring. A policeman said, "Who is your friend?" and I shook my head and he took him away, poor weak and friendless creature.

Home and pasted cuttings in my scrap-book and laboured on a piece I had articled to write for Collier's and to a roof garden for dinner and thence to Roy Howard's wedding anniversary party. So to bed late.

There is a pack of polite sneerers in New York whose professional yippings are aimed at the small town boosters—the so-called Babbitts. The effort of Sample's Landing to buy a new town pump receives the loud metropolitan hoot and much wise cracking.

Yet no city is such a consistent booster as New York. A fine trait but should be so regarded in others. Wherever they are, here or abroad the New Yorkers are singing the praise of their town. The buildings are the highest, the police the finest and the avenues the smartest.

No one seriously objects to this even though it may be a little tiresome. I notice a homely little item clipped from a smal town paper in Illinois. It is spread on a metropolitan editorial page. It reads:

"T. H. Lawrence is building a fine new porch on his residence on Andrew Boulevard.'

The item is giggily captioned: "Watch Us Grow!" New Yorkers appear to muff the idea that Mr. Lawrence's new porch is just as important to his town as, well say, the two column society page spread that Mrs. Bassington-Bassington is starting for Europe with her prize winning Pom and new facial lift.

Deems Taylor, best known as a music critic, is called the most versatile men in New York. Aside from being a brilliant critic he has composed a half dozen symphonic suites. He has written several orchestra scores for big movie productions, an operetta and collaborated on a play. He is a skilled cabinet maker and has so much technical knowledge he was once the editor of an electrical magazine. For many year his light verse has been featured in newspaper columns and only recently he was made a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He was the architect for several homes in an artist's colony in Connecticut and now it is announced Gatti-Casazza has commissioned him to write a grand opera for the Metropolitan and there are those who say that on the opening night he will be in the orchestra pit wielding the baton.

It was Zoe Beeckley who went to Roumania and wheedled the queen into writing a series of newspaper articles. Her majesty also received a tidy sum for endorsing a cold cream in the Alice Longworthian manner. Miss Beckley was once a stenographer in Wall Street and decided she wanted to become a Park Row sob-sister. She did not go to managing editors with merely a plea for a job. She first began interviewing prominent men and with these as samples of her ability stduck out. She got a job the first place she visited which happened to be the now defunsct New York Evening Mail. Her husband is Joseph Gollomb who commutes between Greenwich Village and the Latin Quarter of Paris writing entertaining fiction.

The Shipping Board.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29. — Twice in the history of the United States its ships have multiplied until they swarmed the seas. The first period was at the behest of trade rivalry, the second at the call of war. It was said of Helen of Troy that hers was the face that launched a thousand ships. The same might be said of the face of the American Goddess of Liberty. When, in 1917, the call to arms came from the Presiding American Deity, her shipwright was the United States Shipping Board. Its brief history has been one of splendid achievement, although tinged with episodes of almost comic fiasco. The first period of American shipping activity reached its zenith in 1860. The clipper ship, the fastest sailing ship the world ever has known, was designed by an American and the lofty clouds of canvas spread by this type of craft bore the American flag to every port in the seven seas. In 1800 American merchant tonnage was but 1,500,000; by 1860 it had reached 8,000,000. For seaworthiness and speed these ships never have been excelled under sail. The Yankee shipmasters used to lock the halyards to prevent timid sailors from shortening sail and, in quest of speed records, would let their sails be torn from the rigging before they would reef them in a stiff blow.

Then came the Civil war. The stone fleets sailed from New England. Tall clippers, loaded with stone, sailed down the coast and were scuttled in the mouths of southern harbors to blockade them. The great winged fleet was gone. It was not until after 1900, in spite of the progress of steam on the ocean, that American merchant tonnage again reached the high point of 1860. Indeed, it was not until 1917, when the Shipping Board fleet began to come into existence, that the volume of foreign trade carried in American ships reached what it had been just prior to the Civil war.

Functions of the Board.

The act which created the Shipping Board was not approved until September 7, 1916. At that time the United States was not in the war and it was not at all certain that she would become a belligerent. The act of congress, at the time of passage, was not intended to result in setting the government up as a shipbuilder, except in some contingency which then seemed remote. An appropriation of $50,000,000 was provided for this purpose, but it was not believed generally that the government actually would go into the shipping business. The Shipping Board was created essentially to act as a body to regulate ocean freight rates, just as the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates rates of the railroads. Developments crowded so fast, however, that little of this function ever has been exercised.

The shipping situation which prevailed just before the United States entered the war was unparalleled in the history of the world. The war in Europe took 10,000,000 men from productice pursuits and set them at destruction. It was inevitable, therefore, that a great neutral country like the United States should be called upon to furnish supplies. Three thousand miles of sea intervened. Instantly there developed an unprecedented demand for shipping. As long as port captains, masters of craft, and shipping men of that period live they will spin yarns of the resurrection that took place in shipyards all over the world. Every port, every shipyard, has its adjacent graveyard of old hulks. Ships no longer deemed seaworthy, or regarded as too slow or cumbersome to be profitably employed, are normally laid up and permitted to rot away. When this pressing demand for overseas transport came, there were not enough ships in commission to go around. The German sea command was bending its efforts toward the destruction of merchant vessels. Losses were mounting every day, cutting down the all-too small supply. The result was that cranky old hulks were resurrected from the graveyards and refitted. Anything that would, by good luck, float long enough to make one voyage across the ocean was laden with cargo and dispatched. What matter if she did sink from unseaworthiness? The chances were that she would be sunk by submarines anyway. So long as any old tub would float she was a gold mine. Time charter rates in 1914 had been $1 per ton. In 1917 they were $20 per ton. The prices of ships in 1914 ranged around $60 per ton; in 1917, $300 was the going rate. The freight collected on a single cargo would pay the cost of a ship. Even with the ghost ships, dragged out of the graveyards, plowing across the submarine infested seas, there were not enough cargo craft afloat.

Then came April 6, 1917, when the United States entered the war. Instantly the word came from the Allies that ships were required more than anything else. Daily their own vessels were falling prey to the submarines and meanwhile armies and civilian populations were running short of food and munitions.

The government turned to the Shipping Board and evoked the provisions of the shipping act authorizing the construction and operation of ships. Every shipyard in the land was working day and night on ships for private builders of this and foreign countries. One of the first moves of the Shipping Board was to requisition or commandeer all these vessels over 2,500 tons. It then began awarding new contracts so that six months after the United States had entered the war more than 1,000 ships were under contract or requisition. A year later this figure had risen to 2,400 ships. Congress immediately gave heed to the necessity for ships and poured money out of the treasury coffers. A few months after the die had been cast the vast sum of $2,000,000 was made available for ships, shipyards, the purchase, and the expenses of operation of ships. A year later this figure had increased to $3,000,000,000.

Disposal of Ships.

When the armistice came, the Shipping Board yards were busy with ships under construction and private yards with ships under contract. Launchings were constantly being made. The need of transport of war supplies was at an end, but an era of unprecedented trade activity set in to meet Europe's reconstruction needs. The Shipping Board became a great operating company with vessels in every trade. Ports which never had seen the American flag before now beheld the Stars and Stripes at strange mastheads in their harbors. The board had maintained schools for the training of officers, and crews and ships were sent forth on all seas, carrying American goods abroad and bringing foreign goods home. Largely because of the existence of this great government-owned merchant marine, the foreign trade of 1919 and 1920 reached the unprecedented total of $8,000,000,000.

A world-wide business depression ensued and the ships became idle. The board had vessels tied up in nearly every American port. It was concluded to liquidate this vast fleet by selling it to private ship operators. Many of the best vessels found ready purchasers and now are plying the steamship lanes of the world under private ownership. The board's policy is to dispose of others as rapidly as purchasers can be found, but with so great a fleet considerable time will be required to find buyers. Meantime, the board continues to control a fleet numbering about 1,384 ships, valued approximately at $225,000,000. The total investment of the American people in the Shipping Board program has amounted to $3,500,000,000. Its greatest ship, the Leviathan, was formerly the German liner, Vaterland. After she had been seized, she was fitted out as a troop transport for carrying American soldiers to Europe and bringing them back. When this task was completed, she was reconditioned as a liner. On this work the Shipping Board has expended nearly $16,000,000, making her the finest vessel afloat. She entered the trans-Atlantic trade in the summer of 1923, after a trial trip in which she broke the world's speed record by steaming 28.04 knots per hour.

Better Dry Enforcement

Having waged effective warfare against the rum traffic on the sea, the government is now following the obvious course of carrying the war into the land. Bootlegging is to be assailed as smuggling has been. The whole federal enforcement machinery is being overhauled, and changes are being introduced that promise more effective action.

The most striking step is the effort made to separate dry enforcement from politics. This end is sought by giving the treasury department genuine authority and substituting 22 commissioners, controlling as many districts, for the present system of state commissioners. With state lines wiped out in this activity, political influence should be cut to a minimum.

Eliminating politics, if that can really be done, will help immensely. Greater centralization of authority will help, too. The most reassuring factor of all is the evident determination of the government to use more vigor than ever before. With adequate support from state and local authorities, there should be a notable victory for law and decency.

Lynching Declines

The commission on race relations announces in its annual report that 45 attempted lynchings were prevented in the year 1924. Lynchings have dropped from 52 in 1914 to only 16 in 1924.

Two chief reasons for this improvement are given. One is the more effective work of public officials in protecting threatened prisoners from mobs. The other is the steady growth of public opinion against lynching, particularly in the south.

This great gain in the prevention of lynchings seems the more remarkable in view of the shockingly high murder rate. If mobs can be prevented from killing the victims of their wrath, surely greater success should be possible in preventing private slayings. Public opinion which has weight against the mob should also have weight against the gunman, the poisoner and their like, at least to the extent of depriving them of their weapons.

Seceding Chicago

Chicago talks of seceding from Illinois. It would probably assume the status of a sovereign state itself. A resolution in the city council directs the corporation counsel to report on the proper legal procedure.

New York city has threatened at various times to take such action, for the same reasons influencing Chicago. It is a situation that is likely to arise in the chief city of any state when the rest of the state persistently imposes its will on the metropolis, refuses to take an interest in the latter's problems and ignores what the metropolis regards as its political and financial rights.

There has been a good deal of talk in this country about the cities exploiting the rural sections. On the whole, it is possible that the cities have suffered more from rural tyranny and exploitation.

An American Dictionary

The American language, as distinguished from the English spoken in most British lands, is to be dignified with a dictionary of its own. One of the greatest living lexicographers, Dr. William A. Craigie, an editor of the mammoth Oxford dictionary, has come to this country for the purpose of compiling a complete dictionary of the "American language."

Americans, according to this authority, are reluctant to admit that their English differs from that of England. They soon find, however, if they go to England to travel, that American terms are not easily understood and that English terms bewilder an American.

If this distresses any American who fears that we overdo our use of slang and are losing something important if we lose the English meanings for certain words, Dr. Craigie's reassurances should be welcome. He says:

"The United States is now at a period in its national development which corresponds closely to the Elizabethan age in England. It is a period of intellectual cleativeness and invention. The extraordinary facility that you, as a people, exhibit in the coining of picturesque and expressive slang, is only one of many manifestations of this."

And so there will be a place for important slang in this dictionary, along with other distinctive Americanisms.

Canada Vs. Rum-Running

A group of Ontario prohibitionists is demanding of the prime minister the enactment of effective legislation that would put an "end to the national disgrace of rum-running upon our international border," and the prohibition in any province of the manufacture of liquor when the sale is prohibited.

It is a hopeful suggestion. It is also gratifying to law-abiding Americans on this side of the Canadian border to learn that rum-running is not the favorite occupation of Canadians in general. A stricter check maintained on all liquor shipments from the Dominion will go far toward reducing the amount of illicit liquor which has been finding its way across the border. It will help, too, to elminate the danger of ill-feeling in Canada toward our enlarged rum-navy of the Great Lakes.

The Fourth of July is a good day, too, for defense against firecrackers and toy pistols.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 29.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and could eat nothing but a bite of toast and a sip of orange juice and so to see Sinclair Lewis home from his world travels and found him less freckled than usual and bravely gay.

A hot stick day and few people abroad. After a walk in the park I sat on a stone bench and a fellow with a reeling gait, hicuppy voice and bloodshot eyes sat beside me and fell to snoring. A policeman said, "Who is your friend?" and I shook my head and he took him away, poor weak and friendless creature.

Home and pasted cuttings in my scrap-book and laboured on a piece I had articled to write for Collier's and to a roof garden for dinner and thence to Roy Howard's wedding anniversary party. So to bed late.

There is a pack of polite sneerers in New York whose professional yippings are aimed at the small town boosters—the so-called Babbitts. The effort of Sample's Landing to buy a new town pump receives the loud metropolitan hoot and much wise cracking.

Yet no city is such a consistent booster as New York. A fine trait but should be so regarded in others. Wherever they are, here or abroad the New Yorkers are singing the praise of their town. The buildings are the highest, the police the finest and the avenues the smartest.

No one seriously objects to this even though it may be a little tiresome. I notice a homely little item clipped from a smal town paper in Illinois. It is spread on a metropolitan editorial page. It reads:

"T. H. Lawrence is building a fine new porch on his residence on Andrew Boulevard.'

The item is giggily captioned: "Watch Us Grow!" New Yorkers appear to muff the idea that Mr. Lawrence's new porch is just as important to his town as, well say, the two column society page spread that Mrs. Bassington-Bassington is starting for Europe with her prize winning Pom and new facial lift.

Deems Taylor, best known as a music critic, is called the most versatile men in New York. Aside from being a brilliant critic he has composed a half dozen symphonic suites. He has written several orchestra scores for big movie productions, an operetta and collaborated on a play. He is a skilled cabinet maker and has so much technical knowledge he was once the editor of an electrical magazine. For many year his light verse has been featured in newspaper columns and only recently he was made a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He was the architect for several homes in an artist's colony in Connecticut and now it is announced Gatti-Casazza has commissioned him to write a grand opera for the Metropolitan and there are those who say that on the opening night he will be in the orchestra pit wielding the baton.

It was Zoe Beeckley who went to Roumania and wheedled the queen into writing a series of newspaper articles. Her majesty also received a tidy sum for endorsing a cold cream in the Alice Longworthian manner. Miss Beckley was once a stenographer in Wall Street and decided she wanted to become a Park Row sob-sister. She did not go to managing editors with merely a plea for a job. She first began interviewing prominent men and with these as samples of her ability stduck out. She got a job the first place she visited which happened to be the now defunsct New York Evening Mail. Her husband is Joseph Gollomb who commutes between Greenwich Village and the Latin Quarter of Paris writing entertaining fiction.

"BUNK," SAYS JAMES MONROE, 109, OF EVOLUTION; WOULD JAIL SCOPES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June—"I believe Adam was the first man, NOT the first monkey."

With this terse statement of his belief in man's origin, Major Edward James Monroe, 109-year-old veteran of five wars, who claims to be the son of James Monroe, the fifth president of the United States, arrayed himself four-square with the fundamentalists in the present controversy on evolution.

"My father didn't believe in evolution, either," said the old man, explaining his views in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"There wasn't any of this monkey talk in his day, but he taught me that man was created in God's image, and if he were living today I am certain he would volunteer his services in prosecuting that young whippersnapper up in Tennessee."

The major summarized his opinion of evolution in one short word—"bunk." Anyone who teaches it, he says, should be placed in jail.

"I'm a fundamentalist,' said Monroe. "If Go intended to create man I don't see why he had to put us in a series of monkey cages first. In my opinion humans did NOT ascend from the monkey, but I have about decided that some humans do descend to monkeys. That's the reason for all this excitement in Tennessee."

Major Monroe has made his home here ever since his discharge from the Confederate army. He owns a large tract of land in Jacksonvi most fashionable residential dist

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June—"I believe Adam was the first man, NOT the first monkey."

With this terse statement of his belief in man's origin, Major Edward James Monroe, 109-year-old veteran of five wars, who claims to be the son of James Monroe, the fifth president of the United States, arrayed himself four-square with the fundamentalists in the present controversy on evolution.

"My father didn't believe in evolution, either," said the old man, explaining his views in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"There wasn't any of this monkey talk in his day, but he taught me that man was created in God's image, and if he were living today I am certain he would volunteer his services in prosecuting that young whippersnapper up in Tennessee."

The major summarized his opinion of evolution in one short word—"bunk." Anyone who teaches it, he says, should be placed in jail.

"I'm a fundamentalist,' said Monroe. "If Go intended to create man I don't see why he had to put us in a series of monkey cages first. In my opinion humans did NOT ascend from the monkey, but I have about decided that some humans do descend to monkeys. That's the reason for all this excitement in Tennessee."

Major Monroe has made his home here ever since his discharge from the Confederate army. He owns a large tract of land in Jacksonville's most fashionable residential district.

LEE CREELMAN WINS SUCCESS

American Fashion Artist Scores Great Hit in Paris.

PARIS, June.—Lee Creelman Erickson, American fashion artist, is probably one of the best known figures in the French capital.

Wherever one goes—to the races, to tea at the Ritz or Claridge's, or to the smart theatres on "first nights"—Lee Creelman, as everybody knows her, is certain to be there, seeing the Parisienne at her best, watching all her movements and thinking how she is going to transfer this "chic" into a drawing.

"Clothes mean very little,' she says, "no matter how smart they are, if they are not worn with chic. And just here lies the secret of the beauty of the Frenchwoman. As a matter of fact, she is often mediocre in both face and form but she never lets you dream of it, for she knows how to wear her clothes.

"American women can buy the most expensive things the French designer has to offer and yet not look well, while a little midinette in the Rue de la Paix can put on a mere rag and be smart. It is not what one wears, but how one wears it that I want to show in my drawings. I put the smart clothes I see on the 'demi-monde,' who always has an 'air' about her."

Lee Creelman hails from Hayward, California, and has that breezy, "good fellow" touch about her that has won her much success in Paris. She did much of her studying at the Hopkins Art Institute, in San Francisco, and later went to the Chicago Art Institute. Before the war she came to Paris to study and was for some time the only woman in the Beaux Arts, an honor that any artist coverts. She later went back to Chicago and then to New York, always working in fashions, which is undoubtedly her field "par excellence."

Bible Marathon in California Will be Made Annual Event

YUCAPIA, Ca., June—In the Methodist Episcopal church here, where the Rev. E. D. Raley and his congregation recently engaged in a continuous reading of the Bible, plans have been launched to make the affair an annual event.

The Bible was read by the pastor and his flock "from cover to cover" in sixty-nine hours and fifteen minutes, after the Rev. Mr. Paley said he did not believe reports that the book had been read in twenty-four hours or less.

It is now proposed to build a shrine in the San Bernardino Hills, and there each Spring members of the church will gather for the Scripture reading

BISHOP ELEVATES W. J. BRYAN TO RANK OF MODERN SAINT

DENVER—A new honor has been conferred upon William Jennings Bryan as a result of his opposition to the theory of evolution.

Bishop Frank H. Rice, of the Liberal church, with headquarters in this city, dispatched the following communication to Bryan.

Dear Monkeyless Brother:

This ecclesiastical, scientific and religious communication is to righteously notify you that you have been elevated this day to the position of living, modern saint and a bishop with pontificial powers in the Liberal church, conditioned as follows:

1. Regarding the inspiration of the Bible, you will be required to get the facts and tell the truth.

2. Regarding the origin of man, you will be required to prove your theory by the age of rocks instead of the rock of ages.

3. In regard to proof that prayer is answered, we will teach you how to prove and demonstrate this by the use of a modern adding machine and the mathematical sciences.

4. In regard to the divinity and justice of the Tennessee law against evolution, you will be required to prove it by your God-given inspiration.

A store devoted to women's goods is being built in Buenos Aires at a cost of $2,000,000, and when completed, 2400 persons will be employed there.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

CATTLE TESTS WILL BE MADE

County Commissioners Not Limited in Providing Funds.

County commissioners are not limited to the amount of money they may appropriate from the general county fund for the purpose of joining with the federal and state department of agriculture in the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle.

A committee will soon be appointed to await upon the commissioners asking that such an appropriation be made under the provisions of a law passed by the last legislature, and which will become operative within the next few weeks.

The money that is to be appropriated by the commissioners is to be used in the county where the appropriation is made, and is to be used under the direction of the state department of agriculture in the employment of state veterinarians in that county.

In Columbiana county, it is proposed to have the territory entirely free of tuberculin cattle by the close of 1926.

The new law which caused a meeting to be held in Lisbon Thursday evening of last week of representatives of civic organizations, members of the grange and farm bureau is one of vital interest to all cattle owners, and it provides:

"The county commissioners in their respective counties are hereby authorized and empowered to make such appropriations from the general funds of their county as will enable them to cooperate effectively with the cattle owners, the department of agriculture and the United States bureau of animal industry in the eradication of tuberculosis. The money so appropriated shall be placed in a fund to be used in the county in which it originated, subject to the approval of the department of agriculture.

"When a majority of the resident cattle owners, representing 75 per cent of the cattle owned in any county or township, petition upon forms approved by the department of agriculture for a tuberculin test of the cattle in a county or township, such petition may be granted and the department of agriculture may authorize, if funds are available for the conduct of the work, the assignment of one or more veterinarians to the county or township for the purpose of applying a tuberculin test. The petitions for the test shall be presented to the department of agriculture and when such petitions have been approved by the department of agriculture, said department shall notify the board of county commissioners of such county of the fact that owners of cattle, representing 75 per cent of the cattle in the county or township, are petitioning for the tuberculin test. The department of agriculture shall transmit such petitions to the county auditor of the county where the petitions were signed. Such petitions shall be filed in the office of the county auditor, where they shall be open to public inspection at all times. The provisions of this section shall, when carried out, be known as the area plan of testing.

"After 75 per cent of all the cattle in a county or township enrolled in the area plan have been tuberculin tested, the department of agriculture shall cause to be published a notice of such fact in two newspapers of general circulation in the county or township, and after a period of 30 days from the publication of the notice that 75 per cent of the cattle have been tuberculin tested, the department of agriculture may place under quarantine all herds of dairy, feeding and breeding cattle in the county or township that have not been officially tuberculin tested. All owners of cattle quarantined under the provisions of this section of the General Code shall be allowed the same privileges of petitioning the department of agriculture for the application of the tuberculin test and the removal of the quarantine as provided for in sections 1121-1 and 1121-5 of the General Code."

To Open Bridge Bids.

The county commissioners will open bids at their meeting July 13 for the building of the superstructure of bridge No. 70 in Unity township. There will be 12,161 pounds of reinforced steel used in this job together with 99.5 lineal feet of "E" railing.

County commissioners are not limited to the amount of money they may appropriate from the general county fund for the purpose of joining with the federal and state department of agriculture in the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle.

A committee will soon be appointed to await upon the commissioners asking that such an appropriation be made under the provisions of a law passed by the last legislature, and which will become operative within the next few weeks.

The money that is to be appropriated by the commissioners is to be used in the county where the appropriation is made, and is to be used under the direction of the state department of agriculture in the employment of state veterinarians in that county.

In Columbiana county, it is proposed to have the territory entirely free of tuberculin cattle by the close of 1926.

The new law which caused a meeting to be held in Lisbon Thursday evening of last week of representatives of civic organizations, members of the grange and farm bureau is one of vital interest to all cattle owners, and it provides:

"The county commissioners in their respective counties are hereby authorized and empowered to make such appropriations from the general funds of their county as will enable them to cooperate effectively with the cattle owners, the department of agriculture and the United States bureau of animal industry in the eradication of tuberculosis. The money so appropriated shall be placed in a fund to be used in the county in which it originated, subject to the approval of the department of agriculture.

"When a majority of the resident cattle owners, representing 75 per cent of the cattle owned in any county or township, petition upon forms approved by the department of agriculture for a tuberculin test of the cattle in a county or township, such petition may be granted and the department of agriculture may authorize, if funds are available for the conduct of the work, the assignment of one or more veterinarians to the county or township for the purpose of applying a tuberculin test. The petitions for the test shall be presented to the department of agriculture and when such petitions have been approved by the department of agriculture, said department shall notify the board of county commissioners of such county of the fact that owners of cattle, representing 75 per cent of the cattle in the county or township, are petitioning for the tuberculin test. The department of agriculture shall transmit such petitions to the county auditor of the county where the petitions were signed. Such petitions shall be filed in the office of the county auditor, where they shall be open to public inspection at all times. The provisions of this section shall, when carried out, be known as the area plan of testing.

"After 75 per cent of all the cattle in a county or township enrolled in the area plan have been tuberculin tested, the department of agriculture shall cause to be published a notice of such fact in two newspapers of general circulation in the county or township, and after a period of 30 days from the publication of the notice that 75 per cent of the cattle have been tuberculin tested, the department of agriculture may place under quarantine all herds of dairy, feeding and breeding cattle in the county or township that have not been officially tuberculin tested. All owners of cattle quarantined under the provisions of this section of the General Code shall be allowed the same privileges of petitioning the department of agriculture for the application of the tuberculin test and the removal of the quarantine as provided for in sections 1121-1 and 1121-5 of the General Code."

To Open Bridge Bids.

The county commissioners will open bids at their meeting July 13 for the building of the superstructure of bridge No. 70 in Unity township. There will be 12,161 pounds of reinforced steel used in this job together with 99.5 lineal feet of "E" railing.

Drug Store Robbed.

Single Week's Games Will Determine Fate of Detroit Club

Must Reach Half-Way Mark Or Give Up All Flag Hope, Says Cobb

"The Team That Isn't Above .500 the First Week in July, May as Well Forget About Winning Pennant," Declares Ty; Tigers Now 12½ Games Behind Leaders and Have Chance of Going up.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 29.—It will be interesting to view the movements of the Detroit Tigers during the next few days, if only for the fact that, by the word of their manager, they either will carry on with hope renewed or throw up the sponge with definite finality before the end of the current week.

"The club that isn't above .500 by the first week in July might just as well give up hope of winning the pennant," Ty Cobb said on the occasion of his last visit here.

The Tigers this morning were rated at .485 in the standing of the clubs and July is just around the corner. By his own admission, Cobb must crowd the fate of an entire season into a single week.

He was on the threshold of his goal yesterday when the Tigers, with nine straight victories behind them, were knocked off by the Browns. The chances are that Cobb would have given a month's salary to win that ball game.

He has the Tigers showing the speed they are capable of, at last, but he knows that he is far from being out of the managerial woods. The team is 12½ games behind the leading Athletics and only a miracle streak by the Tigers and a simultaneous flop by the Athletics and Senators can bring Detroit up with the pace before October.

Yet the possibility is there, the Tigers have battled all the way from last place to fourth in a matter of six weeks.

And if they have anything further to offer in evidence, they should show it during the next few days. A benign schedule has teamed them up with the Cleveland Indians for four games and the present Indians apparently couldn't beat anybody, even with a horsewhip.

Incidentally, friends of the Detroit club are emphatic in declaring that the Tigers' early season failure was not due to internal unrest. They declare that the team is with Cobb to a man, and while admitting that Cobb and Harry Heilmann are not the best of friends, close the argument by pointing out that Heilmann is the type of player who will give 100 per cent of himself to any manager.

BALLERINO MEETS MARTIN TONIGHT

NEW YORK, June 29.—Mike Ballerino, of Bayonne, N. J., will lay his 130-pound title on the line tonight at the Queensboro A. C., Long Island City. He will meet Vincent Pepper Martin in a fifteen round bout to a decision and opinion as to the outcome seemed to be evenly divided.

ON THE ROAD BACK

'Hi' and 'Chick,' Showing International Fans Something

Manager of Syracuse, the club which once called him too green for the league.

Fifteen years ago, a youngster named "Hi" Myers spent 22 days in the International league. From May 14 to June 5 he hung on the outer edges of the Syracusee ball park, until the management sent him to the taller bushes of Iowa.

Ten years ago another youngster named Chick Shorten joined the Providence team of the International league full of hope and desire to shine in the big show. His work there earned him his first big league tryout—with the Boston Red Socks.

In the years intervening since those two debuts these two men eventually gained at least a fair measure of fame in the big show.

Myers, undaunted by being shunted to the Sioux City team in the Western league, did his best and the next season got his first tryout with the Brooklyn Dodgers. It took him four seasons to convince the Dodger owners he was ripe for the big show—four years spent at Mobile, Sioux Falls and Newark. Then he went up to stay—and became one of the most reliable if not one of the best outfielders in baseball's history. "Good Old Hi," they called him in Brooklyn.

Myers stuck with Brooklyn until the winter of 1922-23, when he was traded to the Cardinals for Jack Fournier. He wound up his big league career last fall.

Shorten, discovereed by the great old time player Jess Burkett, stayed in the big show, with the exception of a few brief weeks in Newark. He broke into the world's series with the Sox that very fall and in two games collected four hits in 7 times up for a neat average of .571. He played with the Sox the following year and then after his war duties ended was sent to Detroit with the veteran Eddie Ainsworth and Slim Love for Oscar Vitt.

With Detroit he played the outfield in over half the games of the 1920 and 1921 season. Then he moved to the Browns at the waiver price and later to Cincinnati.

Now these two veterans are vieing for managerial honors in the International league, once their brief stopping place on their road to fame.

Myers is managing the Syracuse club, which once called him too green for the league. He succeeded Frank Shaughnessy the other day when that veteran was hired to act as scout by the Cardinals.

Shorten recently succeeded Spencer Abbott, who also becomes an ivory hunter for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Reading outfit obtained Shorten when the Reds let him go this spring.

Both teams in the Int circuit are showing renewed life as a result of the managerial changes and the two new pilots are being given credit not only for their work with their own men but for making things in general more interesting around the whole circuit.

And the average fan will remark "More power to 'em both.'

PARIS, June 29.—Steve Donoghue, the English jockey who has ridden many derby winners to victory, was resting comfortably in the hospital today, following the injuries he received in the Grand Prix yesterday when he was brought down on the first turn with his mount, Baron Robert De Rothschild's Aquatinte.

Entries are being received by the Lisbon Driving Club for the matinee races to be run at the county fair grounds the afternoon of July 4. It is possible that between 50 and 60 horses will be entered in the three races, which will include the 2:23 pace, 2:24 trot and 2:18 pace and trot. A purse of $250 has been provided for each race.

It is the plan of the members of the driving club to open the day with a baseball game in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. Another game will be played following the last heat in the afternoon.

There will be a band concert in the afternoon and evening, and also dancing in the evening. Consideration is now being given to a plan to have an elaborate fireworks display at night, but this feature of the program will not be carried out until Wednesday.

In the race program, one horse has been entered that has been "in the money" in a number of races recently run in the Ohio Short Ship circuit, and it may follow that several other horses that have been running in these races will also be seen in Lisbon.

Over 5,000 people attended these races last year.

Horses are being entered from Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Beaver, East Palestine, Canton, Akron and Wellsville. Several horses owned by East Liverpool and Salem men are expected to be entered in these races this week.

Famous GOLD DIGGERS of History —by Louise Fazenda

"THE GOLD DIGGERS," David Belasco's most celebrated play, appearing in pictures at the Ceramic theatre, three days, commencing Monday, June 29, with daily matinees.

Single Week's Games Will Determine Fate of Detroit Club

Must Reach Half-Way Mark Or Give Up All Flag Hope, Says Cobb

"The Team That Isn't Above .500 the First Week in July, May as Well Forget About Winning Pennant," Declares Ty; Tigers Now 12½ Games Behind Leaders and Have Chance of Going up.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 29.—It will be interesting to view the movements of the Detroit Tigers during the next few days, if only for the fact that, by the word of their manager, they either will carry on with hope renewed or throw up the sponge with definite finality before the end of the current week.

"The club that isn't above .500 by the first week in July might just as well give up hope of winning the pennant," Ty Cobb said on the occasion of his last visit here.

The Tigers this morning were rated at .485 in the standing of the clubs and July is just around the corner. By his own admission, Cobb must crowd the fate of an entire season into a single week.

He was on the threshold of his goal yesterday when the Tigers, with nine straight victories behind them, were knocked off by the Browns. The chances are that Cobb would have given a month's salary to win that ball game.

He has the Tigers showing the speed they are capable of, at last, but he knows that he is far from being out of the managerial woods. The team is 12½ games behind the leading Athletics and only a miracle streak by the Tigers and a simultaneous flop by the Athletics and Senators can bring Detroit up with the pace before October.

Yet the possibility is there, the Tigers have battled all the way from last place to fourth in a matter of six weeks.

And if they have anything further to offer in evidence, they should show it during the next few days. A benign schedule has teamed them up with the Cleveland Indians for four games and the present Indians apparently couldn't beat anybody, even with a horsewhip.

Incidentally, friends of the Detroit club are emphatic in declaring that the Tigers' early season failure was not due to internal unrest. They declare that the team is with Cobb to a man, and while admitting that Cobb and Harry Heilmann are not the best of friends, close the argument by pointing out that Heilmann is the type of player who will give 100 per cent of himself to any manager.

FATHERS AND SONS IN GOLF TOURNEY

The annual fathers and sons tournament, the most colorful golf event of the Pittsburgh season, was scheduled to open today at the Allegheny Country club, Sewickley Heights.

Joseph M. Wells and his father, W. E. Wells, will not take part in the tourney, it was learned today. Although originally carded to play, they were unable to attend.

William C. Fownes, Jr., and his son, Henry C. Fownes 11, who established a course record at Oakmont last week and James B. Crookston and his son, James W. Crookston, Pennsylvania state and West Penn amateur champion, loom as the strongest contenders for honors.

Young's home run in the seventh tied the score and Meusel's triple in the eighth did the rest, the Giants retaining their hold on first place by beating the Braves, 6 to 5

BALLERINO MEETS MARTIN TONIGHT

NEW YORK, June 29.—Mike Ballerino, of Bayonne, N. J., will lay his 130-pound title on the line tonight at the Queensboro A. C., Long Island City. He will meet Vincent Pepper Martin in a fifteen round bout to a decision and opinion as to the outcome seemed to be evenly divided.

Martin is believed to have lost some of the speed that characteried his work of former years but is said to be trained to the minute in the hope of making the supreme effort of his career.

ON THE ROAD BACK

'Hi' and 'Chick,' Showing International Fans Something

Manager of Syracuse, the club which once called him too green for the league.

Fifteen years ago, a youngster named "Hi" Myers spent 22 days in the International league. From May 14 to June 5 he hung on the outer edges of the Syracusee ball park, until the management sent him to the taller bushes of Iowa.

Ten years ago another youngster named Chick Shorten joined the Providence team of the International league full of hope and desire to shine in the big show. His work there earned him his first big league tryout—with the Boston Red Socks.

In the years intervening since those two debuts these two men eventually gained at least a fair measure of fame in the big show.

Myers, undaunted by being shunted to the Sioux City team in the Western league, did his best and the next season got his first tryout with the Brooklyn Dodgers. It took him four seasons to convince the Dodger owners he was ripe for the big show—four years spent at Mobile, Sioux Falls and Newark. Then he went up to stay—and became one of the most reliable if not one of the best outfielders in baseball's history. "Good Old Hi," they called him in Brooklyn.

Myers stuck with Brooklyn until the winter of 1922-23, when he was traded to the Cardinals for Jack Fournier. He wound up his big league career last fall.

Shorten, discovereed by the great old time player Jess Burkett, stayed in the big show, with the exception of a few brief weeks in Newark. He broke into the world's series with the Sox that very fall and in two games collected four hits in 7 times up for a neat average of .571. He played with the Sox the following year and then after his war duties ended was sent to Detroit with the veteran Eddie Ainsworth and Slim Love for Oscar Vitt.

Jack Dunn, Oriole Manager, Tops Minor League Pilots

Wins Fame and Fortune in Baltimore; Refuses Big League Appointments.

NEW YORK, June 29.—It seems to be pretty well agreed that a bird in the hand is worth more than two on the wing. There also seems to be a unanimity of opinion on the theory that it is better to be a big frog in a little puddle than a little frog in a big puddle and that, in the kingdom of the blind, a one-eyed man is king.

Perhaps somewhere in this philosophic porridge there is something to account for the fact that Jack Dunn, of Baltimore, is content to remain as is, although Mr. Dunn is neither a one-eyed frog nor the occupant of a puddle. He is one of the most successful men in all baseball.

As manager of the Baltimore club of the International league, he has won more pennants than any other minor league leader. As president of the same organization, he has made far more money than any magnate outside the big time.

Stick to Minors.

Dunn could almost have his choice of major-league appointments if he so desired, but a twenty-mule team couldn't drag him there. The majors have nothing to offer that isn't his at Baltimore.

Glory? He has that in plenty as the man who led the Orioles to six successive pennants from 1919 to 1924, inclusive, a record that no one in baseball has equalled.

Money? If he needs any, then Rockefeller is just about able to eke out an existence. Dunn, the greatest developer of minor-league talent in the land, has sold Ruth, Shore, Bentley, Lamar, Jimmy Walsh, Eddie Murphy, Thormahlen, Fewster, Fritz Maisel, Ogden, Twombley and many others to the majors for important money during the last twelve years. In addition, he has retained enough stars—Boley, Jacobson, Lawry, etc.—to keep the Baltimore turnstiles clicking with adequate regularity.

Remarkable Memory.

"There are two things that impress one about Jack Dunn over and above his many admirable characteristics," John Conway Toole, president of the International league, told the writer recently. "One is his remarkable memory for details that can be turned to his advantage. It is almost photographic in its integrity of detail.

"The second is his ability to arrive accurately at quick decisions. And he is just as quick to determine that he has made a mistake and rectify it as to stick to his original decision."

Dunn was born in Bayonne, N. J., about fifty years ago, and in the late nineties he was known as a better than average pitcher and infielder with the New York and Brooklyn clubs of the National league. He drifted out of the majors after a couple of years under McGraw and went to Providence where he pitched and managed that club in a pennant the first time out.

That Dunn is quick on the trigger is perhaps best illustrated by his handling of the Ruth matter. Babe was then an orphan in a Baltimore school and couldn't be turned loose on the world even to earn a rather adequate minor league salary. Dunn lost no time in adopting him and becoming his legal guardian. The rest is history, or should be.

Cost of living is decreasing in Australia.

Bill Tilden Slipipng! Beats Richards Three Times, Straight Sets

NEW YORK, June 29.—Vincent Richards' hope of breaking the Tilden monopoly on national tennis championships this season was fainter today than ever before as a result of Tilden's straight set victory over the erstwhile "boy wonder" in the finals of the eastern New York state singles championship. Richards recently intimated that he thought the champion had slipped and expressed the belief that he might beat him in the national title tournament.

Tilden's reply was to beat Richards three times hand running in straight sets, yesterday's scores being 8-6, 6-4, 6-2. This made the champion's record five victories and one defeat in his series with Richards this season.

Tagging The Bases

Reuther left handed the Athletics silly while the Senators mauled Walberk and Stokes and won, 6 to 1, giving them a tie game edge on the series and cutting the Macks' lead to 1½ games. McNeely accounted for five of the six runs.

The poor old doddering Cubs twice finished second to the Cardinals, 3 to 1 and 8 to 7, Haines' pitching winning the opener and Bottomley's homer with the bases disgustingly full, the finale.

Thurston had nothing up his sleeve but a trim left arm but it was good enough to subdue the Indians, 8 to 4, the White Sox making a clean-up of the series by clustering hits against Uhle.

Detroit's run of nine straight came to an abrupt end when Cobb sent Carroll, the college wonder, to the mound and the Browns sent him to the showers in the eighth, a homer by Hargrave with two on speeding his departure. Score 8 to 2.

Yde spellbound the Reds in all but one inning while the Pirates hammered their way to a 5 to 2 decision, Carey's homer over the left field fence being one of the longest ever seen in Cincinnati.

KIDDIES' DAY AT IDORA PARK

Expect 30,000 Will Visit Youngstown on Wednesday.

On Wednesday, youngsters from every section of the surrounding country will wend their way to Idora park in Youngstown, where the park will be theirs for the day!

Kiddies' day which originated at Idora several years ago, has now become a national event throughout the United States and Canada, being adpted an sponsored by the National Association of Amusement Parks.

Tremendous plans have been made for this year's event and it is fully expected that 30,000 children will be present. The day is being held under the auspices of the Holland Bread company and more than 200,00 invitations have been enclosed with bread wrappers by this firm during the past week.

Every one of the amusements in the park is reduced to 3 cents for the day. The theatre and bathing pool are only 10 cents, making this the one big bargain day for youngsters' happiness and delight.

Special attention is being attracted to the plans made this year to entertain the youngsters from surrounding towns. Motion picture men from New York will be present to photograph the crowds and many unusual events and stunts will be introduced.

As a special added attraction, a tribe of original Hopi Indians, direct from their reservation in Arizona, will be present to entertain the youngsters with their weird corn dance, snake dances, sun dances, rain dances, and religious ceremonials.

Hope Hampton Stars In "Gold Diggers," Feature at Ceramic

People who have seen Miss Hope Hampton, the screen actress, dance on such occasions as private dances and balls, have invariably marvelled at her unusual agility, nimble feet and sense of rythm.

But few people know that Hope Hampton is really a wonderful dancer who can arouse the envy of many a professional.

While playing the part of Jerry Lamar in "The Gold Diggers," her latest picture and a screen adaptation of the noted David Belasco stage play, she was given a chance to demonstrate her dancing ability.

The dance, as finally filmed, with the picturesque mantilla of shining silk, the shimmering lacy shawl, the soft and dreamy Spanish atmosphere, with the dancer weaving a lovely design as she moves with swaying arms, is truly a picture of grace and a lesson in rhythm.

"The Gold Diggers" is the feature photoplay at the Ceramic theatre for three days beginning today, and if you wish to enjoy a good picture, see it. In addition to Hope Hampton, the cast includes Windham Standing, Louise Fazenda, Gertrude Short, Alec Francis, Jed Prouty, Arita Gillman, Peggy Brown, Margaret Seddon, Johnny Harron, Ann Cornwall, Edna Tichenor, Frances Ross, Marie Prade and Louise Beaudet. The picture was adapted for the screen by Grant Carpenter and directed by Harry Beaumont, and is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen.

NEW YORK, June 29.—It seems to be pretty well agreed that a bird in the hand is worth more than two on the wing. There also seems to be a unanimity of opinion on the theory that it is better to be a big frog in a little puddle than a little frog in a big puddle and that, in the kingdom of the blind, a one-eyed man is king.

Perhaps somewhere in the philosophic porridge there is something to account for the fact that Jack Dunn, of Baltimore, is content to remain as is, although Mr. Dunn is neither a one-eyed frog nor the occupant of a puddle. He is one of the most successful men in all baseball.

As manager of the Baltimore club of the International league, he has won more pennants than any other minor league leader. As president of the same organization, he has made far more money than any magnate outside the big time.

Stick to Minors.

Dunn could almost have his choice of major-league appointments if he so desired, but a twenty-mule team couldn't drag him there. The majors have nothing to offer that isn't his at Baltimore.

Glory? He has that in plenty as the man who led the Orioles to six successive pennants from 1919 to 1924, inclusive, a record that no one in baseball has equalled.

Money? If he needs any, then Rockefeller is just about able to eke out an existence. Dunn, the greatest developer of minor-league talent in the land, has sold Ruth, Shore, Bentley, Lamar, Jimmy Walsh, Eddie Murphy, Thormahlen, Fewster, Fritz Maisel, Ogden, Twombley and many others to the majors for important money during the last twelve years. In addition, he has retained enough stars—Boley, Jacobson, Lawry, etc.—to keep the Baltimore turnstiles clicking with adequate regularity.

Remarkable Memory.

"There are two things that impress one about Jack Dunn over and above his many admirable characteristics," John Conway Toole, president of the International league, told the writer reecntly. "One is his remarkable memory for details that can be turned to his advantage. It is almost photographic in its integrity of detail.

"The second is his ability to arrive accurately at quick decisions. And he is just as quick to determine that he has made a mistake and rectify it as to stick to his original decision."

Dunn was born in Bayonne, N. J., about fifty years ago, and in the late nineties he was known as a better than average pitcher and infielder with the New York and Brooklyn clubs of the National league. He drifted out of the majors after a couple of years under McGraw and went to Providence, where he pitched and managed that club in a pennant the first time out.

That Dunn is quick on the trigger is perhaps best illustrated by his handling of the Ruth matter. Babe was then an orphan in a Baltimore school and couldn't be turned loose on the world even to earn a rather adequate minor league salary. Dunn lost no time in adopting him and becoming his legal guardian. The rest is history, or should be.

Bill Tilden Slipipng! Beats Richards Three Times, Straight Sets

NEW YORK, June 29.—Vincent Richards' hope of breaking the Tilden monopoly on national tennis championships this season was fainter today than ever before as a result of Tilden's straight set victory over the erstwhile "boy wonder" in the finals of the eastern New York state singles championship. Richards recently intimated that he thought the champion had slipped and expressed the belief that he might beat him in the national title tournament.

Tiden's reply was to beat Richards three times hand running in straight sets, yesterday's scores being 8-6, 6-4, 6-2. This made the champion's record five victories and one defeat in his series with Richards this season.

Tagging The Bases

Reuther left handed the Athletics silly while the Senators mauled Walberk and Stokes and won, 6 to 1, giving them a tie game edge on the series and cutting the Macks' lead to 1½ games. McNeely accounted for five of the six runs.

The poor old doddering Cubs twice finished second to the Cardinals, 3 to 1 and 8 to 7, Haines' pitching winning the opener and Bottomley's homer with the bases disgustingly full, the finale.

Thurston had nothing up his sleeve but a trim left arm but it was good enough to subdue the Indians, 8 to 4, the White Sox making a clean-up of the series by clustering hits against Uhle.

Detroit's run of nine straight came to an abrupt end when Cobb sent Carroll, the college wonder, to the mound and the Browns sent him to the showers in the eighth, a homer by Hargrave with two on speeding his departure. Score 8 to 2.

Yde spellbound the Reds in all but one inning while the Pirates hammered their way to a 5 to 2 decision, Carey's homer over the left field fence being one of the longest ever seen in Cincinnati.

Newsprint production of Canada is now greater than the combined production of Great Britain, Germany, Sweden and Finland.

KIDDIES' DAY AT IDORA PARK

Expect 30,000 Will Visit Youngstown on Wednesday.

On Wednesday, youngsters from every section of the surrounding country will wend their way to Idora park in Youngstown, where the park will be theirs for the day!

Kiddies' day which originated at Idora several years ago, has now become a national event throughout the United States and Canada, being adpted an sponsored by the National Association of Amusement Parks.

Tremendous plans have been made for this year's event and it is fully expected that 30,000 children will be present. The day is being held under the auspices of the Holland Bread company and more than 200,00 invitations have been enclosed with bread wrappers by this firm during the past week.

Every one of the amusements in the park is reduced to 3 cents for the day. The theatre and bathing pool are only 10 cents, making this the one big bargain day for youngsters' happiness and delight.

Special attention is being attracted to the plans made this year to entertain the youngsters from surrounding towns. Motion picture men from New York will be present to photograph the crowds and many unusual events and stunts will be introduced.

As a special added attraction, a tribe of original Hopi Indians, direct from their reservation in Arizona, will be present to entertain the youngsters with their weird corn dance, snake dances, sun dances, rain dances, and religious ceremonials.

Hope Hampton Stars In "Gold Diggers," Feature at Ceramic

People who have seen Miss Hope Hampton, the screen actress, dance on such occasions as private dances and balls, have invariably marvelled at her unusual agility, nimble feet and sense of rythm.

But few people know that Hope Hampton is really a wonderful dancer who can arouse the envy of many a professional.

While playing the part of Jerry Lamar in "The Gold Diggers," her latest picture and a screen adaptation of the noted David Belasco stage play, she was given a chance to demonstrate her dancing ability.

The dance, as finally filmed, with the picturesque mantilla of shining silk, the shimmering lacy shawl, the soft and dreamy Spanish atmosphere, with the dancer weaving a lovely design as she moves with swaying arms, is truly a picture of grace and a lesson in rhythm.

"The Gold Diggers" is the feature photoplay at the Ceramic theatre for three days beginning today, and if you wish to enjoy a good picture, see it. In addition to Hope Hampton, the cast includes Windham Standing, Louise Fazenda, Gertrude Short, Alec Francis, Jed Prouty, Arita Gillman, Peggy Brown, Margaret Seddon, Johnny Harron, Ann Cornwall, Edna Tichenor, Frances Ross, Marie Prade and Louise Beaudet. The picture was adapted for the screen by Grant Carpenter and directed by Harry Beaumont, and is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen.

BOY DEAD; MOTORIST BLAMED

TODAY

What Is Insanity?
Many Are Not Normal.
Fear of Love Conquers.
Study Your Brain.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Many murderers continue to seek refuge from the electric chair in the insane asylum. Denying nothing, they tell how they shot or poisoned their victims, and the lawyer for each one hopes that the jurors, in face of such cold-blooded admissions, will say to themselves: "This main is crazy. Such villainy, such cold-blooded cruelty could not be part of a sane man."

But we may ask with interest, What is insanity?

Briefly, insanity describes the mind working abnormally, not according to rules that govern the majority of human beings.

But who will give an exact definition as to when a man is insane and when he is sane?

If a mother left her child in that building and was bufned in trying to save it, you would say, "Mother love conquers all fear."

A man in war rushes to death just as certain, and you say: "A patriot."

If you saw a man on the street giving away his fortune, distributing gold and greenbacks, you would say without a moment's hesitation, "Crazy."

If you read of a man dead of starvation, lying on a miserable straw mattress, with thousands of dollars sforced away under the matrress, you say, "Miser."

What is the exact difference?

Suppose that in an insane asylum you heard a wild-eyed man saying:

"It is as though the dead could feel the icy worm around them steal, and shudder as the reptiles creep to revel o'er their rotten sleep without the power to scare away those cold consumers of their clay."

You would say, "That's a very dangerous mad-man. Why don't you put a straightjacket on him?"

MIDLAND ROAD JOB AWARDED

Rinehart Brothers' Prepare to Begin Work.

Rinehart Brothers, today were awarded the contract for the grading and surfacing of that part of Route No. 243, between Midland and the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line. Their bid, $94,991.95, was the lowest of six submitted.

Steam shovels and other road grading equipment in Westmoreland Jefferson and Clarion counties, Pennsylvania, will be shipped at once. Work is expected to be started next Monday.

One and possibly two steam shovels will be used on the job. Work will begin at the state line, pushing east to Beaver creek, where the biggest fill is to be made, and another crew will start east of Smiths Ferry, working toward Midland. The contract calls for about 20,000 cubic yards of excavating. The road is about 1 3-5 miles long, and will be surfaced with reinforced concrete, 18 and 20 feet in width.

The contract is to be completed in 100 working days. The contractors plan to keep the road open while the improvement is under way. The Rinehart job is that part of the road from the state line to Glasgow borough and from Smiths Ferry to Midland. The one-half mile stretch through Smiths Ferry, which will border the C. & P. right of way, will not be improved until next year. The new road will parallel the street car tracks.

The Beaver county commissioners have awarded the contract for the new concrete span over Beaver creek to the Farris Engineering company of Pittsburgh, which will complete the job in 140 days.

Work will be started within the next week or 10 days.

A half-mile section of the road in the western end of Midland is also under construction, work having been started today by a Midland contractor. This road will link the Rinehart job with that part of the road within the borough.

The crossings—one known as Barclay's and the other at Industry, on the upper end of the road, will not be undertaken until 1926.

Board of Education May Act Tonight On Two Questions

Selection of a superintendent to succeed F. P. Geiger and decision on the question of using the schools for classes in religious education probably will be the principal matters to be considered by the board of education at an adjourned meeting in the high school building at 7 o'clock tonight.

The post of superintendent is said to have narrowed down to one of two candidates. At a test vote conducted last Friday evening, one of the candidates is said to have polled a majority vote.

Despite the fact that Attorney General C. C. Crabbe has not given an opinion as to the legality of the move to use the schools for classes in religious instruction, the board may vote on the question tonight. The matter was referred to the attorney general more than a month ago.

William Miller Shot In Leg By Patrolman As He Flees

William Miller, 23, brother of "Alabama Joe" Miller, so-called "king of the state line bootleggers," is in the city hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the right leg, inflicted Sunday afternoon by Patrolman Herman Roth, when he attempted to evade arrest.

A warrant for Miller's arrest, charging him with selling intoxicating liquors, was issued by Chief of Police McDermott Sunday. Patrolmen Roth and Chester Smith, in plain clothes, went to the state line in an effort to apprehend Miller, who was reported at "Hell's Half Acre."

Roth and Smith were standing near the end of the concrete road in Ohio, when they saw Miller approaching. Roth called to Miller, telling him he was under arrest. Miller replied "all right,' and walked toward a refreshment stand nearby. Realizing that this was a move on the part of Miller to flee across the line into Pennsylvania, Roth called for him to stop, pulling his gun and firing in the air to frighten him.

Miller failed to heed the warning and thrust his hand in his shirt as if he intended to sieze a gun, and Roth fired again. This shot struck Miller in the calf of the right leg just below the knee. He then dropped to the street and surrendered.

The wounded man was taken to the hospital where he received medical assistance. The bullet lodged in his knee and an X-ray examination was to be made this morning. He was shackled to a bed to prevent his escape.

Miller, police say, was recently released from the Beaver county jail where he was committed by Beaver county authorities for a liquor violation. His brother, "Alabama Joe," is now serving a term in the Western Penitentiary, Woods Run, Pa., for a liquor violation, having been sentenced in the Beaver county courts.

POLICE LAUNCH RIGID CAMPAIGN AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS; FIVE IN JAIL

Police Set Fire To Houseboat Owned By Man in Jail

Chief of Police McDermott and Lieutenant Douglass Leyda, of the Pennsylvania Railroad detective force, set fire to and destroyed a house boat belonging to Clifford Milligan, colored, near the Newell bridge, this morning.

Milligan is in the county jail at Lisbon, serving out a sentence imposed by local authorities. Police say that Milligan has been a habitual offender, using the house boat as a harboring place for youths and violators. The boat was declared a nuisance and ordered destroyed.

Ernest Happold, Ohio Power Official, Goes to Portsmouth

Ernest L. Happold, commercial manager of the Ohio Power company for three and one-half years, accompanied by his family, left Saturday evening for Portsmouth, where he will become power solicitor for the Portsmouth Public Service company.

Happold came to East Liverpool in November, 1921, from the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y. His successor here has not been appointed.

Additional Arrests Expected as Chief McDermott Directs Clean-up Here.

A rigid campaign against illicit liquor dealers was launched by the police Sunday upon orders of Chief Hugh McDermott. As a result of the drive, five suspects were in jail this morning, while additional arrests are expected.

Those arrested Sunday afternoon and this morning are: Tony Carney, Thomas Morgan, George Lawton, Harry Anderson and Charles Kail. Carney was arrested in his home on the hillside back of West End; Morgan was picked up on Sixth street, where it is alleged he has been operating. Lawton at his home in California Hollow; Anderson at his home in Walnut street and Kail at his rooming house in Broadway.

All were arrested on warrants issued by McDermott on selling charges.

None of those in jail today was admitted to bond. They were to be given hearings before Mayor Charles Brown in police court at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

BEAUTY SHOP OWNER BADLY BURNED WHEN APRON IGNITES

Miss Mary Wright in Serious Condition in Hospital.

DOCTOR HOPEFUL

Victim, Clothing Ablaze, Runs Thru Corridor of Building.

Miss Mary Wright, owner of a beauty parlor and hair dressing establishment in the Little Building, is in a serious condition in the City hospital today, as the result of burns suffered about 7:15 o'clock Saturday evening when her apron caught fire from an alcohol burning curling iron heater. It is believed she will recover unless complications develop.

Dentist Smothers Flames.

Miss Wright was combing her hair as she was standing beside the heater. Her apron was fanned into a blaze and in an instant she was in a mass of flames.

Screaming, she ran into the corridor of the building. Dr. J. B. George, whose dental offices are across the hall from Miss Wright's parlors, answering her cries of distress, grasped two sheets from his office and wrapped them about the woman, smothering the flames. Most of her clothing had been burned from her body before the fire was extinguished.

She was seriously burned about the chest, abdomen, back and lower part of the body, while her face was slightly burned and her hair singed.

Dr. Albert Michaels, who occupies offices on the same floor as Miss Wright's parlors, dressed her injuries, following which she was taken to the hospital in the Sturgis ambulance.

HORSE KICKS MAN IN NECK

Frank Aley, Butcher, Victim of Accident in Fredericktown.

Frank Aley, 35, Avondale street butcher, narrowly escaped serious injury, Sunday morning, when he was kicked in the neck by a vicious horse.

Aley, who owns a summer home, about one-half mile from Fredericktown, was unhitching the horse from a drag which he had been using when the animal kicked just as he was unfastening a trace from the single tree. The blow caught Aley on the neck and chin, knocking three of his teeth loose and causing a partial paralysis of the larynx.

He was rendered unconscious and was carried into the house. Dr. J. J. Fitzsommons of Calcutta, was summoned and made an examination of his injuries.

Aley recovered consciousness several hours after the accident occurred. No bones were broken. His condition was reported to be considerably improved today.

BUSTER INGRAM IS HELD ON MANSLAUGHTER COUNT AS HE WAIVES HEARING

John, 7-year-old Son of Henry Martin, Colored, is Fatally Injured When Struck by Car on Newell-Congo Road in Congo Late Saturday Afternoon.

AUTHORITIES CLAIM DRIVER FAILED TO STOP FOLLOWING FATAL ACCIDENT

Two Girls, Who Were Passengers in Machine, are Called as Witnesses at Hearing in Chester, When Accused Furnishes $2,000 Bond Pending Investigation by Grand Jury.

Buster Ingram, 22, First Street, Chester, was held in $2,00 bond on a charge of manslaughter when arraigned yesterday before Justice A. G. Allison, of Chester, in connection with the death of John, 7, son of Henry Martin, colored, of Congo, who was struck by an automobile on the Newell-Congo road at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A charge of reckless driving, which had been filed previous to the boy's death, was held in abeyance until after the grand jury investigation.

The lad, whose skull was fractured and face badly crushed, died in his home 12 hours after the accident.

Young Ingram, who spent Saturday night in the Chester jail, was released after the bond was furnished by Elmer and Frank Hoskinson and Arch Ingram, his father. He waived a hearing upon advice of his attorney, W. W. Ingram.

Prosecutor Thomas S. Hoffman, of Weirton, represented the state.

Two Girls in Auto.

Coroner George A. Arner of Hancock county conducted an inquest and after hearing the testimony of several witnesses, including Miss Helen Webber of Pleasant Heights, East Liverpool, and Mrs. Hazel De Long of Newell, a verdict was returned that the boy met dis death by being run over by an automobile operated by Ingram and recommended that he be held for an investigation by the grand jury.

Testimony at the inquiry disclosed that Ingram, with the Webber and De Long women and another young man, whose name was not revealed, had been to New Cumberland and were enroute back to Chester when the fatal accident occurred.

At Congo, the Martin boy, who was playing in front of his home, stepped, it is claimed, from back of an ice wagon directly in the path of the car which struck him and dragged him a considerable distance.

Girls Reveal Driver's Name.

Ingram, authorities charge, failed to stop his car following the accident, but continued toward his destination. When the auto reached Laurel Hollow park in Newell, the girls, becoming frightened, left the machine and returning to Congo; informed the boy's family as to the driver's identity.

The dying boy was given medical attention by Dr. E. V. McEldowney of Newell.

Chief Seevers went to Ingram's home, where he found him in bed. Questioned by the chief he at first, it is stated, denied being the driver of the car, but when brought to the Chester city hall he admitted striking the boy and failing to give assistance. He was locked up, while the mayor and chief continued their investigation.

The body of the lad was taken to the home in Congo at the close of the inquest. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in a home of a relative in Wellsville. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

LIGHT CANDLES, LOOT SYNAGOGUE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Lighting the tall prayer candles to aid them in their work, thieves broke into a Synagogue in Madison street early today and stole the silver service, valued at $1,000.

Henry Linde, an aged watchman, was bound and gagged by the robbers.

FIRE DESTROYS COUPE, TRUCK

Blaze Sweeps Clarence Azdell Garage Near Calcutta.

Two automotive vehicles—a coupe and a truck—were destroyed when fire of mysterious origin razed a frame garage on the Clarence Azdell farm, about a mile west of Calcutta on the Cannons Mill road, at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

Members of the Azdell family were awakened by the blowing of the horn on one of the machines, which became short circuited. Looking out of the window, they saw the garage in flames.

A large apple tree, situated between the garage and the house, probably saved the dwelling from destruction. Azdell is unable to account for the blaze as no lights or fires were burning in the building.

The coupe was owned by Levi Azdell, a son. Neither the two cars nor the building were insured.

JURIST SAYS CHRIST IS TO BE CRUCIFIED AGAIN IN "SACRILEGIOUS" TENNESSEE EVOLUTION LAW TEST

EDITOR'S NOTE — Judge Neil is known to the English-speaking world as the "father" of "mothers' pensions," the system by which governments assisted widowed and destitute mothers in the care of their young. He has just returned from England and South Africa, where, at the invitation of British social agencies, he piloted through parliament a plan similar to that in effect in 42 of the 48 states here.

By FRANK I. WELLER.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 29.—After 20 centuries of Christianity Jesus Christ is to be crucified again!

Such denunciation was hurled at the approaching Tennessee evolution trial today by Judge Henry Neil of Chicago, internationally known humanitarian.

And the agony of the crucifix of doubt will be no less potent than the suffering of flesh and blood on the Cross of Cavalry.

"It is almost inconceivable that two thousand years of civilization finds mankind wondering whether the Savious was the Son of God or the lineal descendant of a self-developed form of life sired by a monkey," Judge Neil declared.

"Tennessee started out to punish John Scopes for teaching a theory contrary to the laws of the state. Overnight it has become the most sacrilegious affair of the generation.

"The agnostic and the dogmatist have seized upon the simple question of law to renew their age-old controversy over the Word of God. They have only this new guise of 'so-called evolution.'

"The real sinner is not the obscure and little-known school teacher. It is the man who lends assistance to exploitation of God's own work.

"We do not need the magnificent oratory of William Jennings Bryan to prove the truth of Genesis and the Virgin birth of Christ. Nor do we want to hear Clarence Darrow's matchless gospel of despair.

Will Not Alter Truth.

"May the shame of outraged decency strike these word-wise gladiators who have volunteered to enter an all-encompassing religious arena!

"The whole world will watch their battle, not of scientific knowledge, but of scientific persuasion. And when Christianity has been degraded and civilization profaned, the great truth of the universe will be altered not one whit.

"Darrow, the clever criminal lawyer, preaches a theory of hopelessness. He has admitted to a hundred juries his client was guilty, but that death was too good for him; that life without hope was a greater punishment. And each time he has cheated the executioner.

"Had I not believed in the glorious promise of celectial beautitude, his recent New York debate with Scott Nearing on whether life was worth living might have convinced me extermination of the race mattered little.

Hits Bryan's Course.

"Bryan professes the inaccurate belief he has been called to save Christ. He says the hope of the world is at stake. He is imbued with the philosophy of Henry Ward Beecher, who, attacking evolution, said: 'It makes no difference where I came from if I am not going anywhere.'

"Bryan doesn't want the reward of Heaven dissipated by proof that he descended from an ape.

"Let this nation rebuke the uncalled for demonstration that in reality places a hypothesis on the origin of Christ."

COL. COOLIDGE RALLIES FROM ILLNESS; HOPE OF RECOVERY

Next 36 Hours Will Tell Whether Operation Has Saved Him.

SON AT BEDSIDE

Five Doctors, Interne and Two Nurses Aid in Battle.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 29.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, 80 years old, father of the president, has rallied from the acute prostratic ailment that on Sunday necessitated an emergency operation, to such a point that his physicians are most hopeful of his ultimate recovery.

They admit, however, in view of his advanved age and the extrme soriousness of his illness, that the crisis is not yet passed and that a relapse may follow unless great care is taken.

Best evidence of the confidence of the attending physicians came when Dr. Arthur L. Chute, genito urinary specialist from Boston, departed from Plymouth at 9 o'clock. Dr. Chute rendered the final diagnosis of the colonel's illness and performed yesterday's operation.

Major J. F. Coupal, the President's physician, has advised the executive that unless unforseen complications set in, it will be possible for him to leave his father's bedside in time to deliver his scheduled address at Cambridge and Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, showed their relief plainly following the favorable report of the doctors. After breakfast they came out on the front porch and sat on the step and chatted happily.

Five doctors, an interne and two nurses are battling against advanced age and the prostatic ailment that is threatening the president's father. They are hopeful of success, but they admit the crisis is not yet passed.

Air of Optimism Prevails.

In attendance are Major J. F. Coupal, the president's personal physician, who was rushed here from Massachusetts in advance of the executive and Mrs. Coolidge; Dr. Arthur L. Chule of Boston, professer of genito urinary surgery at Tufts college; Dr. A. M. Cram of Bridgewater, Vt., the colonel's physician; Drs. C. F. Ball and C. M. Swift of the Rutland, Vt., hospital staff; Miss Mary Trainer, nurse from the Corey Hill hospital, Boston, and Mrs. Mary Johnson of Rutland, who nursed the president's stepmother during her last illness.

A distinct air of optimism prevailed throughout the old Coolidge homestead. The president and Mrs. Coolidge, their son, John, and Attorney General Sargent—those at the bedside—all are most hopeful.

It was a dramatic setting into which the president and his party entered late yesterday. Just five hours and forty minutes after Mr. Coolidge at White Court in Swampscott, had heard from the attending physicians that his father was sinking, the presidential party arrived at Plymouth. Through driving rain, the party had motored to Boston where a hastily arranged special train was waiting.

Jokes as Physicians Cut.

With a clear track and under full steam, the special made its run to Ludlow, Vt., in record time, cutting nearly an hour from the usual schedule. At Ludlow, the motor trip again was resumed in the midst of a torrential rain that had washed out one bridge and had made the entire 12-mile journey over the mountains most precarious.

Arriving at Plymouth, the president found his father already had submitted to the surgeon's knife. Streached on an improvised operating table constructed from an ordinary table and a patch quilt, Colonel Coolidge had been given a local anaesthetic and subjected to a cystotomy operation, or an operation to open and drain the bladder which is designed to relieve the terrific pain suffered by one afflicted with prostatic trouble which resulted in Colonel Coolidge's illness. With a stoic calm which characterizes the Coolidges, the president's father had walked unaided to the table and had joked with the physicians while they perfformed the painful operation.

Attorney General Calls Doctor.

That night, his grandson returned and became alarmed at his grandfather's condition. Colonel Coolidge, however, refused to permit John to call a doctor, and, for the entire night, remained in his chair, refusing all assistance.

On Saturday he was obviously worse. Attorney General Sargent, leaving his home at Ludlow for Washington, dropped in to say goodbye. Sensing the true conditions of his old friend, Sargent took matters in his own hands and summoned Dr. Cram. After a quick diagnosis, the President was notified at Swampscott, and the orders went forth that brought Major Coupal and Dr. Chute post haste to Plymouth.

what a good memory he has; nice poem."

But if you were told that it was a visiting doctor, trying to soothe the patient by the lines in which Byron describes the sensation of a man who has just lost the lady that pleased him, you would say, "Nice doctor; not insane; he wanted whisky, and knew that the doctors would give it to him to revivie him; stimulate his heart. He wanted whisky for a moment more than he wanted his left hand for the rest of his life; more than he wanted to avoid pain, and possible death. If the man had been drunk at the time, which he was not, it would have been called "alcoholic insanity." It was simply an intense desire of one kind overshadowing and controlling all other emotion.

Be sure that there exists in this universe, on higher planets, great intelligence to which all of us poor creatures would seem insane, hopeless idiots.

What would real intelligence think of us, with out minds centered on this little grain of earth that we inhabit, thinking rarely if ever of the real universe; concentrated on our selfish interests, scarcely ever asking whence we came, whither we are going, or why we are here?

Suppose one of our "alienists," a specialist in insanity, should see out in the ocean a raft crowded with human beings, singing, dancing, cheating each other, starving each other, borrowing, trading—not one of them asking how he got on the raft, or where the raft was going, or what would happen sooner or later?

The alienist would say, "Some cruel person has loaded the raft with mad men and women, and set it adrift."

Our earth is just that kind of a raft, and we travelers argue about sanity and insanity—and know very little about it. He who calls himself sane may be insane, and vice versa.

"He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it."—St. Matthew x, 30.

A man goes almost to certain death because he wants to discover the north pole—he is a hero.

A man walks off the edge of a roof to prove that he can fly with a pair of wings that he has made—he is crazy.

A poor creature in the insane asylum refuses to eat. He is buried as a pauper lunatic.

Another poor creature sits on top of a high column, starves himself, lives in horrible filth—he is praised to the sky and make a saint.

A difficult question, "What is insanity?"

A question much more difficult and much more important to you all is this one:

What is intelligence?

What is "it" that "knows," that lives within us, that distinguishes right from wrong, that controls the impulses of the animals from which we descend?

Insanity is the working of a mental machine out of order, no matter what the disorder may be, whether it be the mild insanity of the spendtarift, or of the miser, or the murderer's insanity that kills.

What is intelligence, what is that power on this earth, not understood, that consciousness, knowledge, intelligence, soul, whatever you may call it, that applies force to matter and organizes this earth?

This is a study worth while. If you have not read a good book on the construction and functions of the human brain, you have failed to interest yourself in the most marvelous machinery existing on this earth.

HUGE PROPERTY LOSS IN QUAKE

Fear Grips Montana; No Casualties During Earth Tremors.

BUTTE, Mont., June 29.—Fear continues today to grip residents of Montana as a result of the widespread convulsions of mother earth which, beginning early Saturday evening continued at intervals until late Sunday afternoon.

By a great miracle not a life was lost during the series of earthquakes, but the populations of cities and towns became panic-stricken as the oscillating waves, which caused a rumbling and shaking over the entire state, were felt in Idaho, Wyoming and Washington. Property damage is estimated as high as $1,000,000.

Shifting a long a main fault under the Rocky mountains near the Missouri river started the earthquake that rocked Montana from end to end, according to the belief of geologists, foremost among them being President C. H. Clapp, of the University of Montana, at Missoula.

Two Towns Hard Hit.

The main fault was on a line between Three Forks and Manhattan, 11 miles apart, 60 miles north of the Yellowstone National park and 150 miles east of Butte. These two town were by far the hardest hit by the tremors, all business blocks in both being destroyed with more than 90 per cent of homes damaged. In Manhattan a school building collapsed during one tremor Sunday afternoon after it had withstood forty distinct shocks in that vicinity.

Citizens of Three Forks and Manhattan spent Saturday night and Sunday on vacant lots or in fields outside the town while only a few were venturing back to their homes today.

Greatest panic following the quakes was felt by passengers on Northern Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul through trains. Three trains were blocked by landslides with the tracks ahead and behind piled high with rock and debris.

Railroad officials could not allay the panic of the passengers who felt every minute that they would be carried into eternity.

Raports today, however, indicate that none suffered injury and the hundreds of travelers walked to safety and rode in wagons or automobiles to other trains beyond the slides.

Cliff Topples Over

On the Milwaukee road a cliff 800 feet high toppled over the track leaving a pile of rocks 200 feet high for a distance of 500 feet just near the Lombard tunnel, which caved in. Two thousand laborers have been rushed to the scene of this disaster and it is estimated that it will take such a crew 15 days to clear the debris.

Tourists in Yellow Stone National park have been assured of their safety by forest rangers who kept a close watch and found no unusual geysers or volcanic action although the earthquakes were centered only a short distance away.

Geologists who located the center of the disturbance area predicted today that the lower rock strata has settled itself on an even keel and that it will be many years before another fault can occur.

A fissure in the earth, a few feet deep and varying from four to six inches in width extends from Three Fork to Manhattan with hot water bubbling up in numerous places in that district.

Tunnel Blockaded.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—Differing reports of the extent of the blockade near Lombard tunnel, on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in Montana, as the result of earthquake shocks in that region Saturday and Sunday, reached the roads Seattle headquarters today.

According to one report which is given more credence than others, a huge boulder 20 feet high and weighing several hundred tons is blocking the line neaf the tunnel. The tunnel itself caved in.

Reports here further indicated that crews which worked all of last night clearing the tunnel with steam shovels were expected not only to open up that passage today but were to blast the big boulder, said to be the last remaining obstacle, within the same time limit.

Motorists Warned They Must Observe "Keep to Right" Edict

Motorists must observe the "keep to the right" regulations in passing the "silent cop" at the intersection of St. Clair avenue and Broadway or face arrest, Chief McDermott warned today.

"Motorists should not speed while approaching this intersection in order to make the sharp turn at the new traffic signals," the police head said. "Special care should be exercised by machines coming down the hill and turning off on Broadway and by those traveling up the hill on St. Clair avenue."

Police have been on duty at this point for several days to warn motorists. All violators in the future are to be ordered to appear before the mayor.

Raid Restaurant; Owner Fined $500 By Mayor Brown

Ed Mullen, Dresden avenue restaurant keeper, was arrested by Patrolman McFarland, Turnkey Cline and Special Officer Torrence Saturday night, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. Three pints of bonded whisky are alleged to have been seized by the police.

Arraigned before Mayor Brown, Mullen was fined $500 and costs. He paid part of the fine and arranged to pay the remainder.

QUAKE SHAKES WESTERN CANADA

SASKATOON, Sask., June 29.—The quake that rocked Montana Saturday and Sunday was felt all over the western Canadian prairie, according to reports here today. In this city buildings swayed and cracked, citizens rushed into the streets in a near-panic and tremendous excitement was aroused late Saturday when the effects of the first earthquake were felt. The whole tremor lasted about an hour, starting at 6 p. m., and ending with a violent disturbance at 7:12. The needle of the University of Saskatchewan seismograph was oscillated out of adjustment.

Calgary, in Alberta, was also rocked by the quake, the first earth disturbance in that city's history. There was only slight damage.

Santa Barbara

broken out in the earthquake stricken city of Santa Barbara.

R. High, a Santa Barbara newspaper man, who arrived here this morning by automobile, reported three houses were in flames.

All water mains in the city are believed broken.

The little town of Goleta, near Santa Barbara, was badly shaken and then fire broke out, completely destroying the town, according to reports brought here by automobile couriers.

Chimneys were wrecked and dishes broken in Ventura, but no serious damage was done here.

Berkeley Records Shock

BERKELEY CAL., June 29.—One of the severest earthquakes ever recorded on the university of California seismograph was being registered here today. The main shock, according to professor Terry Byerley, in charge of the university observatory was registered before 5 a. m. and the pen was still oscillating. At one time the vibrations were so violent the needle was forced off the drum for three minutes. The vibrations were continuing Byerley said, and it was impossible to withdraw the record until the needle stopped recording.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 29.—A violent shock, lasting five minutes, was recorded on the university of Washington seismograph at 7 a. m. today. So violent was the tremor that the recording needle was thrown clear off one drum. It was impossible to tell from what direction the shock came. It was recorded equally by the north-south and east-west instruments. Though more violent tremblor was felt for only a few minutes, lesser tremors continued for 45 minutes.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 29.—Earth shocks shook Los Angeles at 6:44 o'clock this morning.

In several sections of the city persons were thrown out of bed and dishes broken.

The tremors came in two violent series, the first continuing for 10 or 15 seconds. Buildings were rocked but no property damage was reported.

Many residents rushed into the streets, fearing structures would crash.

The second shock was less violent but swayed buildings.

According to reports from various sections of the city, the shocks came inland from the sea and moved to the southwestern section of Los Angeles, where they were believed most violent.

Other Cities Rocked.

SANTA PAULA, Calif., June 29.—Earth tremors rocked Santa Paula, Oxnard and Ventura this morning. Five shocks, starting at 6:44 o'clock, were felt. The last shock occurred at 7:50 o'clock.

Several buildings were reported to have cracked walls as a result of the tremors but there was no other damage.

The shocks were felt generally throughout Ventura county, according to reports here.

CANTON FEARS FRESH CLASH

Foreigners Urged to Leave as Situation Becomes Dangerous.

CANTON, June 29.—The situation at Canton was dangerously critical today.

The British and French consuls requested all foreigners leave Shameen, the foreign concession. A possible recurrence of the armed conflict of last week when Chinese students fired on Shameen and were anwered by the foreign marines, was feared.

PEKING, June 29.—Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang, military power of Peking, today backed the government's request for a revision of unequal treaties with a public statement in which he declared his willingness to fight "the enemies of China."

The demand heard in the streets and posted on placards for a declaration of war against England became more insistent on the heels of Marshal Feng's statement. Others ask that diplomatic relations with Great Britain be severed.

SHANGHAI, June 29. — Although the Merchants' association apparently was working for a resumption of normal relations and a complete halt of the general strike, conditions were not normal here today.

One Chinese woman was in a hospital and several others were suffering from lesser injuries from an acid attack on a tram car Sunday. A gang of roughs threw a bottle of Vitriol into the car.

CLOSE OFFICE OF RED CROSS

Receipts Insufficient to Carry on, Committee Explains.

The offices of the Wellsville branch of the American Red Cross will be closed on Wednesday, July 1, the executive committee of the local chapter announced today.

The receipts from the annual roll call are not sufficient for the upkeep of the office and the demands upon it, asserted the executive committee which also points out that demands are chiefly civilian and these are few in summer. The soldier work, it is claimed, has been well taken care of and grows less each year.

"The reason for this action of the committee is due to the fact that the receipts from the annual roll call are not sufficient for the upkeep of the office and the demands made upon it.

"At the close of the war, the Wellsville chapter had a balance of $4,000. Each year this reserve fund has had to be drawn upon until now there is not quite $1,000, which, with the amount received from roll call would not be sufficient for more than a half year's work. The amount received from the one dollar memberships is nominal. The greater part of the money subscribed at roll call comes as donations from the business men of the city.

"The demands being made upon the Red Cross are chiefly civilian and these demands are few in the summer. The soldier work has been well taken care of and grows less each year.

"In order to retain the balance in the treasury for local uses the organization must be continued, the annual roll call must be taken and the funds be set aside for some special and definite purpose. The executive committee voted to deposit the balance in the treasury as a fund for community disaster and epidemic only.

"The committee wishes to acknowledge their appreciation for the support that has been given them by many loyal citizens."

Better Dry Enforcement

Having waged effective warfare against the rum traffic on the sea, the government is now following the obvious course of carrying the war into the land. Bootlegging is to be assailed as smuggling has been. The whole federal enforcement machinery is being overhauled, and changes are being introduced that promise more effective action.

The most striking step is the effort made to separate dry enforcement from politics. This end is sought by giving the treasury department genuine authority and substituting 22 commissioners, controlling as many districts, for the present system of state commissioners. With state lines wiped out in this activity, political influence should be cut to a minimum.

Eliminating politics, if that can really be done, will help immensely. Greater centralization of authority will help, too. The most reassuring factor of all is the evident determination of the government to use more vigor than ever before. With adequate support from state and local authorities, there should be a notable victory for law and decency.

Lynching Declines

The commission on race relations announces in its annual report that 45 attempted lynchings were prevented in the year 1924. Lynchings have dropped from 52 in 1914 to only 16 in 1924.

Two chief reasons for this improvement are given. One is the more effective work of public officials in protecting threatened prisoners from mobs. The other is the steady growth of public opinion against lynching, particularly in the south.

This great gain in the prevention of lynchings seems the more remarkable in view of the shockingly high murder rate. If mobs can be prevented from killing the victims of their wrath, surely greater success should be possible in preventing private slayings. Public opinion which has weight against the mob should also have weight against the gunman, the poisoner and their like, at least to the extent of depriving them of their weapons.

Seceding Chicago

Chicago talks of seceding from Illinois. It would probably assume the status of a sovereign state itself. A resolution in the city council directs the corporation counsel to report on the proper legal procedure.

New York city has threatened at various times to take such action, for the same reasons influencing Chicago. It is a situation that is likely to arise in the chief city of any state when the rest of the state persistently imposes its will on the metropolis, refuses to take an interest in the latter's problems and ignores what the metropolis regards as its political and financial rights.

There has been a good deal of talk in this country about the cities exploiting the rural sections. On the whole, it is possible that the cities have suffered more from rural tyranny and exploitation.

An American Dictionary

The American language, as distinguished from the English spoken in most British lands, is to be dignified with a dictionary of its own. One of the greatest living lexicographers, Dr. William A. Craigie, an editor of the mammoth Oxford dictionary, has come to this country for the purpose of compiling a complete dictionary of the "American language."

Americans, according to this authority, are reluctant to admit that their English differs from that of England. They soon find, however, if they go to England to travel, that American terms are not easily understood and that English terms bewilder an American.

If this distresses any American who fears that we overdo our use of slang and are losing something important if we lose the English meanings for certain words, Dr. Craigie's reassurances should be welcome. He says:

"The United States is now at a period in its national development which corresponds closely to the Elizabethan age in England. It is a period of intellectual cleativeness and invention. The extraordinary facility that you, as a people, exhibit in the coining of picturesque and expressive slang, is only one of many manifestations of this."

And so there will be a place for important slang in this dictionary, along with other distinctive Americanisms.

Canada Vs. Rum-Running

A group of Ontario prohibitionists is demanding of the prime minister the enactment of effective legislation that would put an "end to the national disgrace of rum-running upon our international border," and the prohibition in any province of the manufacture of liquor when the sale is prohibited.

It is a hopeful suggestion. It is also gratifying to law-abiding Americans on this side of the Canadian border to learn that rum-running is not the favorite occupation of Canadians in general. A stricter check maintained on all liquor shipments from the Dominion will go far toward reducing the amount of illicit liquor which has been finding its way across the border. It will help, too, to elminate the danger of ill-feeling in Canada toward our enlarged rum-navy of the Great Lakes.

The Fourth of July is a good day, too, for defense against firecrackers and toy pistols.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 29.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up and could eat nothing but a bite of toast and a sip of orange juice and so to see Sinclair Lewis home from his world travels and found him less freckled than usual and bravely gay.

A hot stick day and few people abroad. After a walk in the park I sat on a stone bench and a fellow with a reeling gait, hicuppy voice and bloodshot eyes sat beside me and fell to snoring. A policeman said, "Who is your friend?" and I shook my head and he took him away, poor weak and friendless creature.

Home and pasted cuttings in my scrap-book and laboured on a piece I had articled to write for Collier's and to a roof garden for dinner and thence to Roy Howard's wedding anniversary party. So to bed late.

There is a pack of polite sneerers in New York whose professional yippings are aimed at the small town boosters—the so-called Babbitts. The effort of Sample's Landing to buy a new town pump receives the loud metropolitan hoot and much wise cracking.

Yet no city is such a consistent booster as New York. A fine trait but should be so regarded in others. Wherever they are, here or abroad the New Yorkers are singing the praise of their town. The buildings are the highest, the police the finest and the avenues the smartest.

No one seriously objects to this even though it may be a little tiresome. I notice a homely little item clipped from a smal town paper in Illinois. It is spread on a metropolitan editorial page. It reads:

"T. H. Lawrence is building a fine new porch on his residence on Andrew Boulevard.'

The item is giggily captioned: "Watch Us Grow!" New Yorkers appear to muff the idea that Mr. Lawrence's new porch is just as important to his town as, well say, the two column society page spread that Mrs. Bassington-Bassington is starting for Europe with her prize winning Pom and new facial lift.

Deems Taylor, best known as a music critic, is called the most versatile men in New York. Aside from being a brilliant critic he has composed a half dozen symphonic suites. He has written several orchestra scores for big movie productions, an operetta and collaborated on a play. He is a skilled cabinet maker and has so much technical knowledge he was once the editor of an electrical magazine. For many year his light verse has been featured in newspaper columns and only recently he was made a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He was the architect for several homes in an artist's colony in Connecticut and now it is announced Gatti-Casazza has commissioned him to write a grand opera for the Metropolitan and there are those who say that on the opening night he will be in the orchestra pit wielding the baton.

It was Zoe Beeckley who went to Roumania and wheedled the queen into writing a series of newspaper articles. Her majesty also received a tidy sum for endorsing a cold cream in the Alice Longworthian manner. Miss Beckley was once a stenographer in Wall Street and decided she wanted to become a Park Row sob-sister. She did not go to managing editors with merely a plea for a job. She first began interviewing prominent men and with these as samples of her ability stduck out. She got a job the first place she visited which happened to be the now defunsct New York Evening Mail. Her husband is Joseph Gollomb who commutes between Greenwich Village and the Latin Quarter of Paris writing entertaining fiction.

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Shipping Board.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29.—Twice in the history of the United States its ships have multiplied until they swarmed the seas. The first period was at the behest of trade rivalry, the second at the call of war. It was said of Helen of Troy that hers was the face that launched a thousand ships. The same might be said of the face of the American Goddess of Liberty. When, in 1917, the call to arms came from the Presiding American Deity, her shipwright was the United States Shipping Board. Its brief history has been one of splendid achievement, although tinged with episodes of almost comic fiasco. The first period of American shipping activity reached its zenith in 1860. The clipper ship, the fastest sailing ship the world ever has known, was designed by an American and the lofty clouds of canvas spread by this type of craft bore the American flag to every port in the seven seas. In 1800 American merchant tonnage was but 1,500,000; by 1860 it had reached 8,000,000. For seaworthiness and speed these ships never have been excelled under sail. The Yankee shipmasters used to lock the halyards to prevent timid sailors from shortening sail and, in quest of speed records, would let their sails be torn from the rigging before they would reef them in a stiff blow.

Then came the Civil war. The stone fleets sailed from New England. Tall clippers, loaded with stone, sailed down the coast and were scuttled in the mouths of southern harbors to blockade them. The great winged fleet was gone. It was not until after 1900, in spite of the progress of steam on the ocean, that American merchant tonnage again reached the high point of 1860. Indeed, it was not until 1917, when the Shipping Board fleet began to come into existence, that the volume of foreign trade carried in American ships reached what it had been just prior to the Civil war.

Functions of the Board.

The act which created the Shipping Board was not approved until September 7, 1916. At that time the United States was not in the war and it was not at all certain that she would become a belligerent. The act of congress, at the time of passage, was not intended to result in setting the government up as a shipbuilder, except in some contingency which then seemed remote. An appropriation of $50,000,000 was provided for this purpose, but it was not believed generally that the government actually would go into the shipping business. The Shipping Board was created essentially to act as a body to regulate ocean freight rates, just as the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates rates of the railroads. Developments crowded so fast, however, that little of this function ever has been exercised.

The shipping situation which prevailed just before the United States entered the war was unparalleled in the history of the world. The war in Europe took 10,000,000 men from productice pursuits and set them at destruction. It was inevitable, therefore, that a great neutral country like the United States should be called upon to furnish supplies. Three thousand miles of sea intervened. Instantly there developed an unprecedented demand for shipping. As long as port captains, masters of craft, and shipping men of that period live they will spin yarns of the resurrection that took place in shipyards all over the world. Every port, every shipyard, has its adjacent graveyard of old hulks. Ships no longer deemed seaworthy, or regarded as too slow or cumbersome to be profitably employed, are normally laid up and permitted to rot away. When this pressing demand for overseas transport came, there were not enough ships in commission to go around. The German sea command was bending its efforts toward the destruction of merchant vessels. Losses were mounting every day, cutting down the all-too small supply. The result was that cranky old hulks were resurrected from the graveyards and refitted. Anything that would, by good luck, float long enough to make one voyage across the ocean was laden with cargo and dispatched. What matter if she did sink from unseaworthiness? The chances were that she would be sunk by submarines anyway. So long as any old tub would float she was a gold mine. Time charter rates in 1914 had been $1 per ton. In 1917 they were $20 per ton. The prices of ships in 1914 ranged around $60 per ton; in 1917, $300 was the going rate. The freight collected on a single cargo would pay the cost of a ship. Even with the ghost ships, dragged out of the graveyards, plowing across the submarine infested seas, there were not enough cargo craft afloat.

Then came April 6, 1917, when the United States entered the war. Instantly the word came from the Allies that ships were required more than anything else. Daily their own vessels were falling prey to the submarines and meanwhile armies and civilian populations were running short of food and munitions.

The government turned to the Shipping Board and evoked the provisions of the shipping act authorizing the construction and operation of ships. Every shipyard in the land was working day and night on ships for private builders of this and foreign countries. One of the first moves of the Shipping Board was to requisition or commandeer all these vessels over 2,500 tons. It then began awarding new contracts so that six months after the United States had entered the war more than 1,000 ships were under contract or requisition. A year later this figure had risen to 2,400 ships. Congress immediately gave heed to the necessity for ships and poured money out of the treasury coffers. A few months after the die had been cast the vast sum of $2,000,000 was made available for ships, shipyards, the purchase, and the expenses of operation of ships. A year later this figure had increased to $3,000,000,000.

Disposal of Ships.

When the armistice came, the Shipping Board yards were busy with ships under construction and private yards with ships under contract. Launchings were constantly being made. The need of transport of war supplies was at an end, but an era of unprecedented trade activity set in to meet Europe's reconstruction needs. The Shipping Board became a great operating company with vessels in every trade. Ports which never had seen the American flag before now beheld the Stars and Stripes at strange mastheads in their harbors. The board had maintained schools for the training of officers, and crews and ships were sent forth on all seas, carrying American goods abroad and bringing foreign goods home. Largely because of the existence of this great government-owned merchant marine, the foreign trade of 1919 and 1920 reached the unprecedented total of $8,000,000,000.

A world-wide business depression ensued and the ships became idle. The board had vessels tied up in nearly every American port. It was concluded to liquidate this vast fleet by selling it to private ship operators. Many of the best vessels found ready purchasers and now are plying the steamship lanes of the world under private ownership. The board's policy is to dispose of others as rapidly as purchasers can be found, but with so great a fleet considerable time will be required to find buyers. Meantime, the board continues to control a fleet numbering about 1,384 ships, valued approximately at $225,000,000. The total investment of the American people in the Shipping Board program has amounted to $3,500,000,000. Its greatest ship, the Leviathan, was formerly the German liner, Vaterland. After she had been seized, she was fitted out as a troop transport for carrying American soldiers to Europe and bringing them back. When this task was completed, she was reconditioned as a liner. On this work the Shipping Board has expended nearly $16,000,000, making her the finest vessel afloat. She entered the trans-Atlantic trade in the summer of 1923, after a trial trip in which she broke the world's speed record by steaming 28.04 knots per hour.

"BUNK," SAYS JAMES MONROE, 109, OF EVOLUTION; WOULD JAIL SCOPES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June—"I believe Adam was the first man, NOT the first monkey."

With this terse statement of his belief in man's origin, Major Edward James Monroe, 109-year-old veteran of five wars, who claims to be the son of James Monroe, the fifth president of the United States, arrayed himself four-square with the fundamentalists in the present controversy on evolution.

"My father didn't believe in evolution, either," said the old man, explaining his views in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"There wasn't any of this monkey talk in his day, but he taught me that man was created in God's image, and if he were living today I am certain he would volunteer his services in prosecuting that young whippersnapper up in Tennessee."

The major summarized his opinion of evolution in one short word—"bunk.' Anyone who teaches it, he says, should be placed in jail.

"I'm a fundamentalist,' said Monroe. "If Go intended to create man I don't see why he had to put us in a series of monkey cages first. In my opinion humans did NOT ascend from the monkey, but I have about decided that some humans do descend to monkeys. That's the reason for all this excitement in Tennessee."

Major Monroe has made his home here ever since his discharge from the Confederate army. He owns a large tract of land in Jacksonville's most fashionable residential district.

LEE CREELMAN WINS SUCCESS

American Fashion Artist Scores Great Hit in Paris.

PARIS, June.—Lee Creelman Erickson, American fashion artist, is probably one of the best known figures in the French capital.

Wherever one goes—to the races, to tea at the Ritz or Claridge's, or to the smart theatres on "first nights"—Lee Creelman, as everybody knows her, is certain to be there, seeing the Parisienne at her best, watching all her movements and thinking how she is going to transfer this "chic" into a drawing.

"Clothes mean very little,' she says, "no matter how smart they are, if they are not worn with chic. And just here lies the secret of the beauty of the Frenchwoman. As a matter of fact, she is often medicore in both face and form but she never lets you dream of it, for she knows how to wear her clothes.

"American women can buy the most expensive things the French designer has to offer and yet not look well, while a little midinette in the Rue de la Paix can put on a mere rag and be smart. It is not what one wears, but how one wears it that I want to show in my drawings. I put the smart clothes I see on the 'demi-monde,' who always has an 'air' about her."

Lee Creelman hails from Hayward, California, and has that breezy, "good-fellow" touch about her that has won her much success in Paris. She did much of her studying at the Hopkins Art Institute, in San Francisco, and later went to the Chicago Art Institute. Before the war she came to Paris to study and was for some time the only woman in the Beaux Arts, an honor that any artist coverts. She later went back to Chicago and then to New York, always working in fashions, which is undoubtedly her field "par excellence."

Bible Marathon in California Will be Made Annual Event

YUCAPIA, Ca., June—In the Methodist Episcopal church here, where the Rev. E. D. Raley and his congregation recently engaged in a continuous reading of the Bible, plans have been launched to make the affair an annual event.

The Bible was read by the pastor and his flock "from cover to cover" in sixty-nine hours and fifteen minutes, after the Rev. Mr. Paley said he did not believe reports that the book had been read in twenty-four hours or less.

It is now proposed to build a shrine in the San Bernardino Hills, and there each Spring members of the church will gather for the Scripture reading

BISHOP ELEVATES W. J. BRYAN TO RANK OF MODERN SAINT

DENVER—A new honor has been conferred upon William Jennings Bryan as a result of his opposition to the theory of evolution.

Bishop Frank H. Rice, of the Liberal church, with headquarters in this city, dispatched the following communication to Bryan.

Dear Monkeyless Brother:

This ecclesiastical, scientific and religious communication is to righteously notify you that you have been elevated this day to the position of living, modern saint and a bishop with pontificial powers in the Liberal church, conditioned as follows:

1. Regarding the inspiration of the Bible, you will be required to get the facts and tell the truth.

2. Regarding the origin of man, you will be required to prove your theory by the age of rocks instead of the rock of ages.

3. In regard to proof that prayer is answered, we will teach you how to prove and demonstrate this by the use of a modern adding machine and the mathematical sciences.

4. In regard to the divinity and justice of the Tennessee law against evolution, you will be required to prove it by your God-given inspiration.

A store devoted to women's goods is being built in Buenos Aires at a cost of $2,000,000, and when completed, 2400 persons will be employed there.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

CIVIL WAR VETS HOLD REUNION

Members of Ohio Regiment Meet at West Point Grange.

Eight members of the 143rd regiment, O. V. I., held their eighth annual reunion at the West Point Grange hall Saturday, and they were joined by 22 other old soldiers, all of the latter group being identified with other units who fought during the Civil war.

The morning hours were spent in the renewing of acquaintances and in the reviewing of incidents of the battles of the war of '65.

By noon the crowd had swelled to about 150 old soldiers and their friends, and the noon meal was served by the women of the West Point community, although many who attended the event brought well-filled baskets of their own.

Following the singing of "America" in the afternoon, and the pronouncing of the invocation by the Rev. Charles H. Rank of Madison Presbyterian church, who also delivered the address of welcome, R. A. Mohler delivered the response. Miss Marion George pleased the crowd with a song and she was followed by a piano duet by Mildred Parks and Helen Custer. Mrs. Helen A. Lindesmith then entertained with a monologue. Miss Alice George gave a vocal solo, and she was followed by Miss Mary Crawford with a recitation. A musical reading was given Evelyn Fife. A solo and reading was featured by Mrs. F. H. Johnson. A recitation by Eileen Copeland followed and a piano solo by Myrtle Strabley and a pantomine by Helen Custar were the closing numbers on the special program.

The principal address of the afternoon was given by the Rev. W. E. Tilton, pastor of the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church.

"Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was then sung by the crowd, with piano accompainment.

A letter was read from B. R. Shaw of Coschocton, aged 90 years, was read by Mr. Mohler.

Officers for the fiscal year were elected as follows: President R. A. Mohler, Atwater; vice president, J. C. McIntosh; secretary-treasurer, George F. Copeland, Millport.

The ninth annual reunion will be held in Lisbon in June 1926, but the date has not been selected.

FRIENDS MEETING TO BEGIN AUG. 25

Committee meetings are now being held at Damascus which have to do with the Yearly Meeting of the Friends church of this part of the United States. The Yearly meeting will begin Aug. 25, and will close with an all day service, Sunday, Aug. 30.

Sessions will be held in the Yearly meeting house, although the Friends' church of Damascus will be used for some sessions. As in past years, it is expected that over 5,000 people will visit Damascus the last Sunday of the meeting. Representatives from the Friends church in all states from Tennessee on the south, Indiana on the west and Virginia on the east will attend the meeting, which conforms to annual conferences in other church denominations.

AUTO SALE BILLS BEING FILED HERE

June will be a record month for the recording of automobile sale bills, according to Clerk of Courts John T. Burns.

While the majority of the sale bills are for the transfer of ownership in new cars, it is also disclosed that the sale of new cars in this country reached a new peak during June.

FAIR PREMIUM LIST APPROVED

The premium list for the county fair which will be held next September has been approved by the county fair board, and Secretary Harry E. Marsden today announced that the list should be ready for the public within the next three weeks.

Already many concessions have been arranged for.

"We have already begun to receive applications for entry blanks for the different departments," declared Secretary Marsden, "and this is an indication that people are taking an early interest in the next county fair. CATTLE TESTS WILL BE MADE

County Commissioners Not Limited in Providing Funds.

County commissioners are not limited to the amount of money they may appropriate from the general county fund for the purpose of joining with the federal and state department of agriculture in the eradication of tuberculosis in cattle.

A committee will soon be appointed to await upon the commissioners asking that such an appropriation be made under the provisions of a law passed by the last legislature, and which will become operative within the next few weeks.

The money that is to be appropriated by the commissioners is to be used in the county where the appropriation is made, and is to be used under the direction of the state department of agriculture in the employment of state veterinarians in that county.

In Columbiana county, it is proposed to have the territory entirely free of tuberculin cattle by the close of 1926.

The new law which caused a meeting to be held in Lisbon Thursday evening of last week of representatives of civic organizations, members of the grange and farm bureau is one of vital interest to all cattle owners, and it provides:

"The county commissioners in their respective counties are hereby authorized and empowered to make such appropriations from the general funds of their county as will enable them to cooperate effectively with the cattle owners, the department of agriculture and the United States bureau of animal industry in the eradication of tuberculosis. The money so appropriated shall be placed in a fund to be used in the county in which it originated, subject to the approval of the department of agriculture.

"When a majority of the resident cattle owners, representing 75 per cent of the cattle owned in any county or township, petition upon forms approved by the department of agriculture for a tuberculin test of the cattle in a county or township, such petition may be granted and the department of agriculture may authorize, if funds are available for the conduct of the work, the assignment of one or more veterinarians to the county or township for the purpose of applying a tuberculin test. The petitions for the test shall be presented to the department of agriculture and when such petitions have been approved by the department of agriculture, said department shall notify the board of county commissioners of such county of the fact that owners of cattle, representing 75 per cent of the cattle in the county or township, are petitioning for the tuberculin test. The department of agriculture shall transmit such petitions to the county auditor of the county where the petitions were signed. Such petitions shall be filed in the office of the county auditor, where they shall be open to public inspection at all times. The provisions of this section shall, when carried out, be known as the area plan of testing.

"After 75 per cent of all the cattle in a county or township enrolled in the area plan have been tuberculin tested, the department of agriculture shall cause to be published a notice of such fact in two newspapers of general circulation in the county or township, and after a period of 30 days from the publication of the notice that 75 per cent of the cattle have been tuberculin tested, the department of agriculture may place under quarantine all herds of dairy, feeding and breeding cattle in the county or township that have not been officially tuberculin tested. All owners of cattle quarantined under the provisions of this section of the General Code shall be allowed the same privileges of petitioning the department of agriculture for the application of the tuberculin test and the removal of the quarantine as provided for in sections 1121-1 and 1121-5 of the General Code."

To Open Bridge Bids.

The county commissioners will open bids at their meeting July 13 for the building of the superstructure of bridge No. 70 in Unity township. There will be 12,161 pounds of reinforced steel used in this job together with 99.5 lineal feet of "E" railing.

Single Week's Games Will Determine Fate of Detroit Club

Must Reach Half-Way Mark Or Give Up All Flag Hope, Says Cobb

"The Team That Isn't Above .500 the First Week in July, May as Well Forget About Winning Pennant," Declares Ty; Tigers Now 12½ Games Behind Leaders and Have Chance of Going up.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 29.—It will be interesting to view the movements of the Detroit Tigers during the next few days, if only for the fact that, by the word of their manager, they either will carry on with hope renewed or throw up the sponge with definite finality before the end of the current week.

"The club that isn't above .500 by the first week in July might just as well give up hope of winning the pennant," Ty Cobb said on the occasion of his last visit here.

The Tigers this morning were rated at .485 in the standing of the clubs and July is just around the corner. By his own admission, Cobb must crowd the fate of an entire season into a single week.

He was on the threshold of his goal yesterday when the Tigers, with nine straight victories behind them, were knocked off by the Browns. The chances are that Cobb would have given a month's salary to win that ball game.

He has the Tigers showing the speed they are capable of, at last, but he knows that he is far from being out of the managerial woods. The team is 12½ games behind the leading Athletics and only a miracle streak by the Tigers and a simultaneous flop by the Athletics and Senators can bring Detroit up with the pace before October.

Yet the possibility is there, the Tigers have battled all the way from last place to fourth in a matter of six weeks.

And if they have anything further to offer in evidence, they should show it during the next few days. A benign schedule has teamed them up with the Cleveland Indians for four games and the present Indians apparently couldn't beat anybody, even with a horsewhip.

Incidentally, friends of the Detroit club are emphatic in declaring that the Tigers' early season failure was not due to internal unrest. They declare that the team is with Cobb to a man, and while admitting that Cobb and Harry Heilmann are not the best of friends, close the argument by pointing out that Heilmann is the type of player who will give 100 per cent of himself to any manager.

Jack Britton vs. Jimmy Jones, at Canton, 12 rounds.

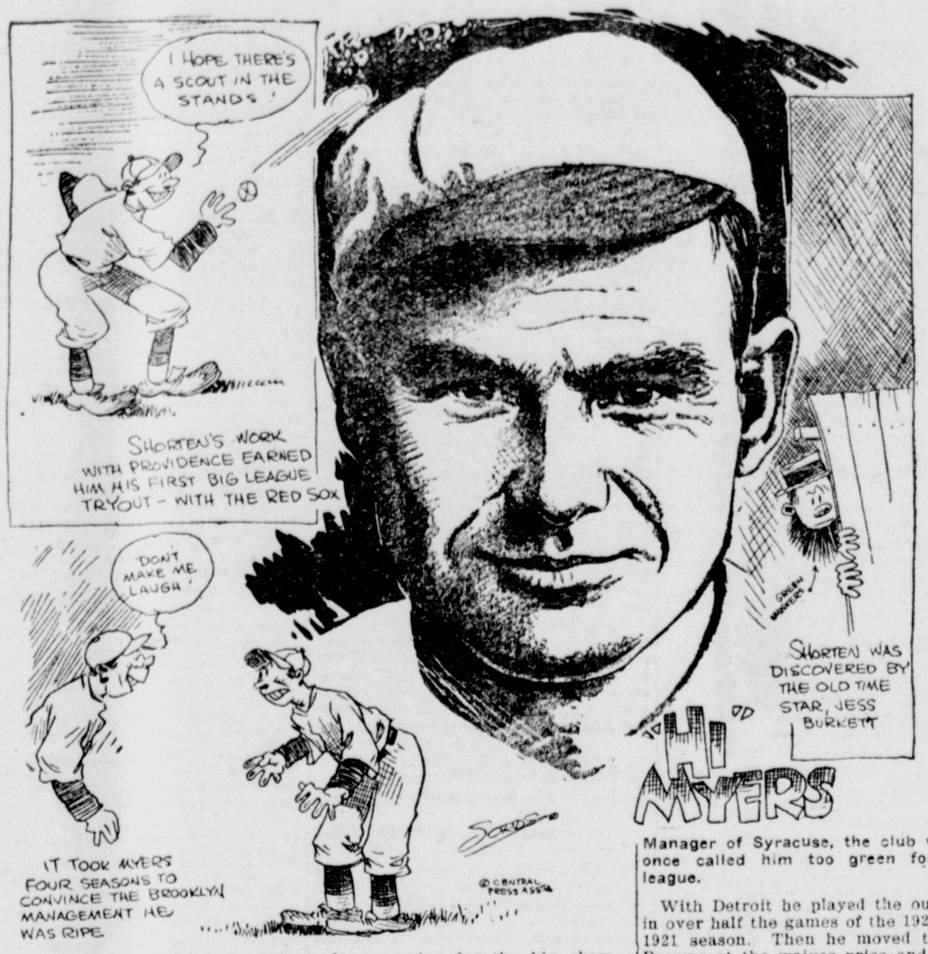

BALLERINO MEETS MARTIN TONIGHT

NEW YORK, June 29.—Mike Ballerino, of Bayonne, N. J., will lay his 130-pound title on the line tonight at the Queensboro A. C., Long Island City. He will meet Vincent Pepper Martin in a fifteen round bout to a decision and opinion as to the outcome seemed to be evenly divided.

Martin is believed to have lost some of the speed that characteried his work of former years but is said to be trained to the minute in the hope of making the supreme effort of his career.

ON THE ROAD BACK

'Hi' and 'Chick,' Showing International Fans Something

Manager of Syracuse, the club which once called him too green for the league.

Fifteen years ago, a youngster named "Hi" Myers spent 22 days in the International league. From May 14 to June 5 he hung on the outer edges of the Syracusee ball park, until the management sent him to the taller bushes of Iowa.

Ten years ago another youngster named Chick Shorten joined the Providence team of the International league full of hope and desire to shine in the big show. His work there earned him his first big league tryout—with the Boston Red Socks.

In the years intervening since those two debuts these two men eventually gained at least a fair measure of fame in the big show.

Myers, undaunted by being shunted to the Sioux City team in the Western league, did his best and the next season got his first tryout with the Brooklyn Dodgers. It took him four seasons to convince the Dodger owners he was ripe for the big show—four years spent at Mobile, Sioux Falls and Newark. Then he went up to stay—and became one of the most reliable if not one of the best outfielders in baseball's history. "Good Old Hi," they called him in Brooklyn.

Myers stuck with Brooklyn until the winter of 1922-23, when he was traded to the Cardinals for Jack Fournier. He wound up his big league career last fall.

Shorten, discovereed by the great old time player Jess Burkett, stayed in the big show, with the exception of a few brief weeks in Newark. He broke into the world's series with the Sox that very fall and in two games collected four hits in 7 times up for a neat average of .571. He played with the Sox the following year and then after his war duties ended was sent to Detroit with the veteran Eddie Ainsworth and Slim Love for Oscar Vitt.

With Detroit he played the outfield in over half the games of the 1920 and 1921 season. Then he moved to the Browns at the waiver price and later to Cincinnati.

Now these two veterans are vieing for managerial honors in the International league, once their brief stopping place on their road to fame.

Myers is managing the Syracuse club, which once called him too green for the league. He succeeded Frank Shaughnessy the other day when that veteran was hired to act as scout by the Cardinals.

Shorten recently succeeded Spencer Abbott, who also becomes an ivory hunter for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Reading outfit obtained Shorten when the Reds let him go this spring.

Both teams in the Int circuit are showing renewed life as a result of the managerial changes and the two new pilots are being given credit not only for their work with their own men but for making things in general more interesting around the whole circuit.

And the average fan will remark "More power to 'em both.'

DONOGHUE HURT IN GRAND PRIX

PARIS, June 29.—Steve Donoghue, the English jockey who has ridden many derby winners to victory, was resting comfortably in the hospital today, following the injuries he received in the Grand Prix yesterday when he was brought down on the first turn with his mount, Baron Robert De Rothschild's Aquatinte.

An X-ray showed that Donoghue fractured the top of one humerus.

TAKE ENTRIES FOR '4TH' RACES

Nearly 60 Horses Will Run in Fairgrounds Events.

Entries are being received by the Lisbon Driving Club for the matinee races to be run at the county fair grounds the afternoon of July 4. It is possible that between 50 and 60 horses will be entered in the three races, which will include the 2:23 pace, 2:24 trot and 2:18 pace and trot. A purse of $250 has been provided for each race.

It is the plan of the members of the driving club to open the day with a baseball game in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. Another game will be played following the last heat in the afternoon.

There will be a band concert in the afternoon and evening, and also dancing in the evening. Consideration is now being given to a plan to have an elaborate fireworks display at night, but this feature of the program will not be carried out until Wednesday.

In the race program, one horse has been entered that has been "in the money" in a number of races recently run in the Ohio Short Ship circuit, and it may follow that several other horses that have been running in these races will also be seen in Lisbon.

Over 5,000 people attended these races last year.

Horses are being entered from Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Beaver, East Palestine, Canton, Akron and Wellsville. Several horses owned by East Liverpool and Salem men are expected to be entered in these races this week.

Jack Dunn, Oriole Manager, Tops Minor League Pilots

NEW YORK, June 29.—It seems to be pretty well agreed that a bird in the hand is worth more than two on the wing. There also seems to be a unanimity of opinion on the theory that it is better to be a big frog in a little puddle than a little frog in a big puddle and that, in the kingdom of the blind, a one-eyed man is king.

Perhaps somewhere in the philosophic porridge there is something to account for the fact that Jack Dunn, of Baltimore, is content to remain as is, although Mr. Dunn is neither a one-eyed frog nor the occupant of a puddle. He is one of the most successful men in all baseball.

As manager of the Baltimore club of the International league, he has won more pennants than any other minor league leader. As president of the same organization, he has made far more money than any magnate outside the big time.

Stick to Minors.

Dunn could almost have his choice of major-league appointments if he so desired, but a twenty-mule team couldn't drag him there. The majors have nothing to offer that isn't his at Baltimore.

Glory? He has that in plenty as the man who led the Orioles to six successive pennants from 1919 to 1924, inclusive, a record that no one in baseball has equalled.

Money? If he needs any, then Rockefeller is just about able to eke out an existence. Dunn, the greatest developer of minor-league talent in the land, has sold Ruth, Shore, Bentley, Lamar, Jimmy Walsh, Eddie Murphy, Thornahlen, Fewster, Fritz Maisel, Ogden, Twombley and many others to the majors for important money during the last twelve years. In addition, he has retained enough stars—Boley, Jacobson, Lawry, etc.—to keep the Baltimore turnstiles clicking with adequate regularity.

Remarkable Memory.

"There are two things that impress one about Jack Dunn over and above his many admirable characteristics," John Conway Toole, president of the International league, told the writer recently. "One is his remarkable memory for details that can be turned to his advantage. It is almost photographic in its integrity of detail.

"The second is his ability to arrive accurately at quick decisions. And he is just as quick to determine that he has made a mistake and rectify it as to stick to his original decision."

Dunn was born in Bayonne, N. J., about fifty years ago, and in the late nineties he was known as a better than average pitcher and infielder with the New York and Brooklyn clubs of the National league. He drifted out of the majors after a couple of years under McGraw and went to Providence, where he pitched and managed that club in a pennant the first time out.

That Dunn is quick on the trigger is perhaps best illustrated by his handling of the Ruth matter. Babe was then an orphan in a Baltimore school and couldn't be turned loose on the world even to earn a rather adequate minor-league salary. Dunn lost no time in adopting him and becoming his legal guardian. The rest is history, or should be.

Bill Tilden Slipipng! Beats Richards Three Times, Straight Sets

NEW YORK, June 29.—Vincent Richards' hope of breaking the Tilden monopoly on national tennis championships this season was fainter today than ever before as a result of Tilden's straight set victory over the erstwhile "boy wonder" in the finals of the eastern New York state singles championship. Richards recently intimated that he thought the champion had slipped and expressed the belief that he might beat him in the national title tournament.

Tilden's reply was to beat Richards three times hand running in straight sets, yesterday's scores being 8-6, 6-4, 6-2. This made the champion's record five victories and one defeat in his series with Richards this season.

Tagging The Bases

Reuther left handed the Athletics silly while the Senators mauled Walberk and Stokes and won, 6 to 1, giving them a tie game edge on the series and cutting the Macks' lead to 1½ games. McNeely accounted for five of the six runs.

The poor old doddering Cubs twice finished second to the Cardinals, 3 to 1 and 8 to 7, Haines' pitching winning the opener and Bottomley's homer with the bases disgustingly full, the finale.

Thurston had nothing up his sleeve but a trim left arm but it was good enough to subdue the Indians, 8 to 4, the White Sox making a clean-up of the series by clustering hits against Uhle.

Detroit's run of nine straight came to an abrupt end when Cobb sent Carroll, the college wonder, to the mound and the Browns sent him to the showers in the eighth, a homer by Hargrave with two on speeding his departure. Score 8 to 2.

KIDDIES' DAY AT IDORA PARK

Expect 30,000 Will Visit Youngstown on Wednesday.

On Wednesday, youngsters from every section of the surrounding country will wend their way to Idora park in Youngstown, where the park will be theirs for the day!

Kiddies' day which originated at Idora several years ago, has now become a national event throughout the United States and Canada, being adpted an sponsored by the National Association of Amusement Parks.

Tremendous plans have been made for this year's event and it is fully expected that 30,000 children will be present. The day is being held under the auspices of the Holland Bread company and more than 200,00 invitations have been enclosed with bread wrappers by this firm during the past week.

Every one of the amusements in the park is reduced to 3 cents for the day. The theatre and bathing pool are only 10 cents, making this the one big bargain day for youngsters' happiness and delight.

Special attention is being attracted to the plans made this year to entertain the youngsters from surrounding towns. Motion picture men from New York will be present to photograph the crowds and many unusual events and stunts will be introduced.

As a special added attraction, a tribe of original Hopi Indians, direct from their reservation in Arizona, will be present to entertain the youngsters with their weird corn dance, snake dances, sun dances, rain dances, and religious ceremonials.

Hope Hampton Stars In "Gold Diggers," Feature at Ceramic

People who have seen Miss Hope Hampton, the screen actress, dance on such occasions as private dances and balls, have invariably marvelled at her unusual agility, nimble feet and sense of rythm.

But few people know that Hope Hampton is really a wonderful dancer who can arouse the envy of many a professional.

While playing the part of Jerry Lamar in "The Gold Diggers," her latest picture and a screen adaptation of the noted David Belasco stage play, she was given a chance to demonstrate her dancing ability.

The dance, as finally filmed, with the picturesque mantilla of shining silk, the shimmering lacy shawl, the soft and dreamy Spanish atmosphere, with the dancer weaving a lovely design as she moves with swaying arms, is truly a picture of grace and a lesson in rhythm.

"The Gold Diggers" is the feature photoplay at the Ceramic theatre for three days beginning today, and if you wish to enjoy a good picture, see it. In addition to Hope Hampton, the cast includes Windham Standing, Louise Fazenda, Gertrude Short, Alec Francis, Jed Prouty, Arita Gillman, Peggy Brown, Margaret Seddon, Johnny Harron, Ann Cornwall, Edna Tichenor, Frances Ross, Marie Prade and Louise Beaudet. The picture was adapted for the screen by Grant Carpenter and directed by Harry Beaumont, and is a Warner Brothers classic of the screen.
